

MICHAEL GREEN SPEAKS FOR THE HIPPIES

Woodstockers Face Problem --- Search for Sane Solution

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock proved itself to be a town of many facets Tuesday night as hundreds crowded into Town Hall for a Chamber of Commerce meeting on "The Hippie Impact on Woodstock as a Community."

Not only did the hippies themselves shatter their own insulation by speaking out and making their residence here something worth fighting over, but they found the majority of the large crowd applauding them and urging their neighbors to remember that "they are human beings who should be called people, not hippies."

The meeting was in sharp contrast to a somewhat similar session last Sunday afternoon in Woodstock on the same problems. The Sunday meeting, called at the home of Mrs. John Egan by Mrs. Egan and Town Justice Edgar Leaycraft, began with a reminder that summer hippies and motorcycle gangs "tore the towns apart out west;" drew such vitriolic statements as: "Our women who walk our streets swallow the filth and dirt that these people exude."

Should Welcome Outsiders

The Chamber of Commerce meeting, more than three times as heavily attended, began with six panelists urging sanity and reason in handling the problem; left the crowd with the thought that Woodstock "must continue its reputation as a friendly town that welcomes outsiders."

Many meetings of the type have been held in Woodstock this year, but this was the first at which hippies fielded a spokesman in their own behalf. He was Michael Green, who assured those present he might be regarded as a hippie and asked for representation on the panel or during discussion.

He was seated on the panel by Chamber of Commerce president Christopher Morris. Attired in baggy orange pants, purple shirt, two strands of beads, a sprig of flowers behind his ear, and blue sneakers, he sat yoga fashion with one foot in his lap through much of the session, fingering another strand of beads. If his beard and ear-length hair contrasted with the establishment appearance of the panel, the panelists and Green often echoed each other during the discussion.

Green contended that the hippie phenomenon was conceived in non-violence, love of nature, humanity and God; became famous as a symbol of what its people believed. Conceding that Woodstock is attracting "loiterers and people looking for the action," he noted the hippie movement has attracted these types before, causing concerned citizens all over the country to seek solutions. But he argued that the answer will not be found in more strictly enforced laws, curfews, or more police control—all of which lead to "more violence, more name calling, more separation into the battlefields of 'we' and 'they'."

Opposes Loiterers

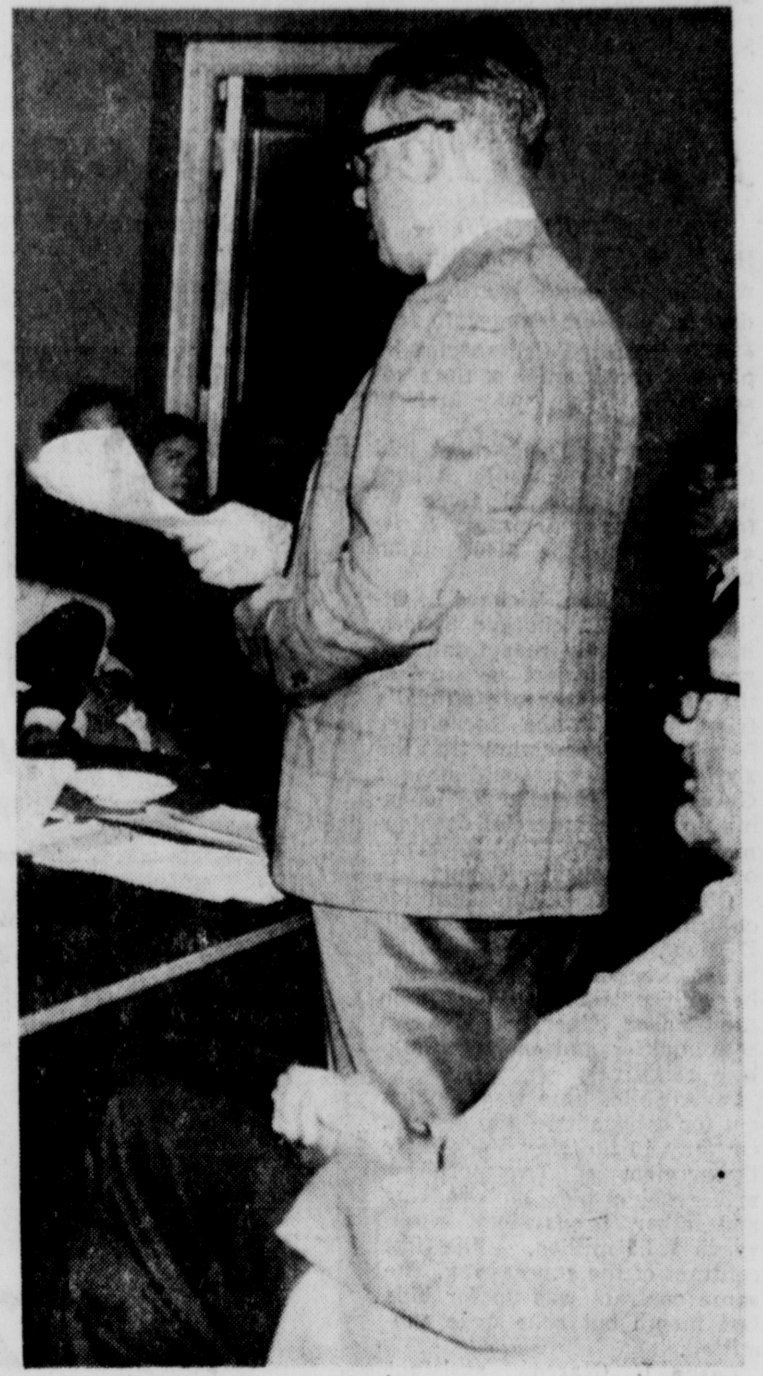

He and his tribe (his word) are hopeful that Woodstock will come up with a unique solution to this nationwide problem by benefiting from other mistakes in other communities. "We can continue to further antagonize or creatively confront" the problem, said Green. He also suggested a meditation center would "take people off the street corners;" said he would not be adverse to putting the town "off limits to loiterers."

Among the panelists was Dr. Harold Snyder, Superintendent of Ontario Central Schools, who admitted at the outset: "I am the Establishment." But he urged the audience to remember that "Woodstock is a very unique community" and should be wary of "overreacting to the point where we destroy this kind of climate." He urged strong support of Dr. Norman Burg's recent call for a Community Council to study the problem in depth; said his major concern with the influx of outsiders was the "Great Pretenders" who attempt to move on the hippie scene, bringing with them the problem of narcotics.

Panelist Charles Weidman, a vice-president of Rotron Manufacturing, Inc., said he chose Woodstock as home because it was a community that "emulates the ideals that are truly American." Never having known the town without hippies, he said he felt "our tendency to blame things on groups which we can name sometimes fogs up the problem." Weidman suggested the problem does not lie with hippies as such, but is rooted in the fact that Woodstock "is attractive to and friendly toward young people who come in droves." Agreeing that "the criminal element is attracted to crowds," he suggested efforts be made to "keep the bad ones out" and to handle the large crowds of youngsters with "love and respect but firmness," insisting they have "a sense of responsibility to obey our laws."

Panelist Jean Martin, wife of an artist and the author of two novels, admitted that her anxiety, too, stemmed from the "drug situation." She did not propose, she said, "a great police drive against drugs;" urged instead "some

A Preview For Council

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Nine members of the Common Council were given a preview of what will in all probability be Kingston's first private redevelopment in Broadway East at a meeting Tuesday night in the Council chambers.

For the most part, the aldermen seemed to approve the plans presented by Gerald Marqusee, president of Perennial Homes, Inc. of Long Island, the prospective developer. A public hearing by the full Council is set for June 30 after which passage is expected at the Council's regular meeting on July 1.

Marqusee outlined plans for seven, one family homes for persons of lower income to be built on a one-acre tract in the Broadway East urban renewal area.

The nine aldermen included John Heitzman (D-First Ward), Joseph Conlin (D-Third Ward), Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow (D-Fourth Ward), Donald Quick (D-Sixth Ward), Michael Perry (D-Seventh Ward), Emilio Primo (D-Eighth Ward), Fred Harder (D-Ninth Ward), Clifford Sinsabaugh (D-Tenth Ward) and Edward Norton (D-11th Ward). Sinsabaugh, chairman of the Council's Urban Renewal Committee, had called the meeting.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan was also in attendance along with Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein, Urban Renewal Executive Director James G. Connors and Agency members Elmore Yallum, Eddie Parker, William Mahoney and Henry Millonig.

Marqusee acknowledged the assistance of William Paulus of First Federal Savings and Loan of Kingston for the bank's committing mortgage money to the project. Paulus was in attendance and outlined briefly how mortgages would be set up for prospective buyers.

It was estimated that the average cost for an owner of the larger (four-bedroom) dwelling would be in the area of $78 per month, including taxes.

In Peru -- Sweeping Land Edict

LIMA, Peru (AP) — President Juan Velasco has announced the revolutionary government will nationalize all major landholdings in Peru to "end once and for all the unfair social order that has kept peasants in poverty and inequity."

The sweeping land reform law, to be published today, is aimed at replacing the country's sprawling private estates with agrarian-industrial cooperatives.

Involves U. S. Lands

It also will involve expropriation of foreign-held lands, including holdings of the U.S.-owned Cerro de Pasco mining firm and W. R. Grace and Co., which has sugar and paper interests in Peru.

Relations between Lima and Washington have been at a low ebb since Velasco seized power last October and expropriated the International Petroleum Co. refinery. ICC is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey. The United States has halted arms sales to Peru and threatened to cut off all aid.

The new law also will affect Casagrande, one of the world's biggest sugar plantations, which stretches from the Pacific Ocean to the eastern region of the Peruvian Andes.

Velasco said agrarian reform "will mark the start of the true liberation of the national peasantry." The peasant, he added, no longer will be "the outcast and defenseless being that used to live in poverty from birth to death and impatiently saw an equally desperate future coming for his children."

No Privileges

The president warned that resistance will not be tolerated and the reform "will be applied in all the nation. There will be no privileges or cases of exception recognized that would favor certain groups or interests."

A few hours before Velasco's announcement, the government charged that the National Agrarian Society, an organization of big landlords, planned to "carry out an intense campaign by television to stop the implementation of the reform, to halt sales of agricultural products to create a shortage, to start strikes to stop production and marketing, block roads with the aim of disturbing transportation and to request support of cane sugar workers to cooperate in sabotage."

Farmers were warned not to take part in the campaign and told the law would "free the underdefended farmers from the landlord's plague."

After the law was announced, the society attacked it, charging that society officials had not been consulted. The measure was worked out by the government in strict secrecy.

Israeli Planes Strike

By United Press International

Israeli dive bombers raided Arab guerrilla positions in Jordan today in apparent retaliation for attacks on Israeli soldiers and a collective farm.

The planes struck at commando sites east of the Jordan River near Adassiya for 25 minutes, witnesses said. Earlier, an Arab unit dueling with an Israeli patrol north of Beit She'an, an Israeli army spokesman said.

At least one Arab was reported killed in the ground battle and Israeli soldiers said they found a Soviet-made rifle beside the body.

Communist diplomats in London disclosed simultaneously that the Soviet Union has delivered to the United States a new plan for peace in the Middle East. The sources said Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser had approved the proposal which provides for recognition of Israel by the Arab nations, free navigation through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba and a big-power guarantee of security in the crisis region.

The plan rejects any Arab territorial concessions to Israel and insists on Israel withdrawal to land held before the 1967 war, the diplomats said.

The Israeli air raid came a few hours after the Maoz Chaim Kibbutz in the Beit She'an Valley was shelled by mortar batteries located in Jordanian territory, an Israeli spokesman said.

Four Contenders Are in Field To Take Over Helm of the GOP

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

The Republican City Committee will name a successor to Chairman Ward Ingalsbe Jr. out of an apparent field of four Thursday night.

Ingalsbe's expected resignation, was received by the city committee today.

Two of the leading contenders for the post are County Legislator Melvin Mones and former city supervisor and vice chairman of the committee, James A. Rapp. Both men told The Freeman today that they would accept the nomination. Also mentioned for the chairmanship is one of mayoral candidate James Tyrrell's leading supporters, aldermanic candidate Peter C. Fisher and James F. Martin, former alderman and supervisor.

Fisher says he has not decided whether he will make the run and will talk to committee members before giving a

"yes" or "no" answer. If he should decide he can serve the party better as an alderman, now, it is our obligation to the party, he said, he could support either Rapp or Mones for the post.

"They both would make fine chairmen," he added. The Freeman was unable to contact Martin for his views.

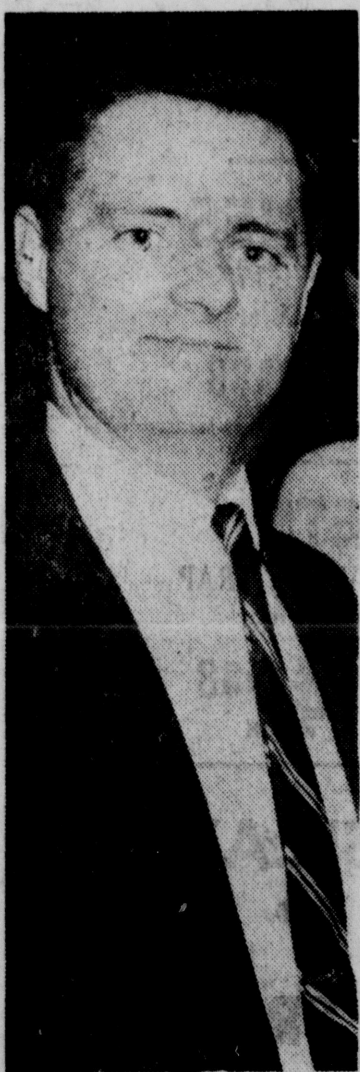

'Pressure From All Over'

Mones said he would accept the nomination if he received a draft or a mandate from committee members, and said he has been receiving telephone calls and "pressure from all over" to seek the chairmanship.

If he were to assume the post, he added, he would expect the entire Republican ticket to be supported. "This is not a one-man proposition . . . we cannot allow ourselves to dwell on one or two candidates . . . especially in view of the disastrous election of last November when the GOP captured only one out of 13 aldermanic seats."

Saugerties Hearing Monday on Trailer Review

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN
SAUGERTIES
A public hearing for the purpose of reviewing several amendments to the Town of Saugerties newly adopted trailer ordinance will be held Monday

8 p.m. at Saugerties Town Hall. The ordinance was adopted by the Saugerties Town Board in a sharp reversal of its May 21 decision, adopted the new town trailer ordinance on June 7 with an opening to review amendments. The vote was 4 to 0 with Councilman Robert Smith abstaining. The changes as listed in a public notice published in The Freeman notes the following:

Section 3 — Definitions: House Trailer — The term house trailer as used in this ordinance shall be defined as any vehicle or combination thereof used, designated for use, or capable of being used as sleeping or living quarters, where propelled by its own power or by the power of another vehicle to which it may be attached. The term house trailer shall not apply to camping and travel trailers parked at private or public campsites for recreational purposes or to camping and travel trailers stored on owners

lot. Section 11, Subd. C, Par. 1 — In the case of a single house trailer located on an occupied lot, the area shall be changed to read 50,000 square feet.

Para. 2 — In the case of a house trailer to be located on an unoccupied lot, the area shall be changed to read 35,000 square feet.

Rec Grants for County Towns, Villages

Community youth recreation project grants for three towns and two villages in Ulster County have been announced by the State Division for Youth.

The Town and Village of New Paltz received a joint sum of $2,470 for the extensive program administered by the board of education of the New Paltz Central School. Total of $8,500 will be spent during the year to provide organized youth activities. The grant to the Village of Saugerties is $1,520. Mayor Cornelius M. Cox is chairman of the recreation program which is sponsored by the village board.

The Town of Olive received $950 and the Town of Gardiner $1,520 in state aid for the recreation programs. A total of $5,000 will be spent for the Town of Olive program which is administered by the Town of Olive Youth Commission of which Miss Evelyn A. Lang is chairman. Wesley A. Kissel is director of the program which includes a variety of sports and activities.

Gardiner programs are administered during the year by the town board with Supervisor George Majestic as chairman. A total of $4,780 will be spent by the town to provide the year-round organized youth activities.

These were the major points of objections to the trailer law when originally presented at public hearings. In the first paragraph of the original document the requirement for lot size was 60,000 square feet.

On May 21 the Town Board voted 3 to 2 against adoption of the trailer ordinance with Republican Councilmen Bernard Rinaldi and George Turner voting for adoption and Francis

Push Hearing on River Expressway Dangers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee on fish and wildlife continues hearings today on possible danger to federally protected fish species by planned construction of the Hudson River Expressway in New York State.

The Interior Department told the committee Tuesday it supported the approval given by former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall to the $140 million project.

However, Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., charged Sunday in an interview that Udall approved the project because of the former federal official's friendship with the Rockefeller family. Ottinger claims that the six-lane highway would benefit Governor Rockefeller by opening up, for commercial development, property the governor owns in Westchester County.

Ottinger asked subcommittee chairman Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., to hold the hearings because he said the highway, to be built partially on landfill in the Hudson River, would harm communities and endanger marine resources.

Meanwhile, time was running out for opponents of the project. On July 10 the New York State Department of Transportation will receive bids on dredging and other preparatory work, worth $23.5 million. — the first contract of the expressway. The same contract was up for bids last month but none were submitted.

Leslie L. Glasgow, assistant interior secretary for fish and wildlife, parks and marine resources, told the subcommittee that his department does not plan to reconsider approval of the expressway, and its personnel supported Udall's decision.

In opening testimony, Ottinger said the expressway "will destroy homes, bar access to the river and draw a heavy volume of truck, bus and automobile traffic along the shore."

He also said dredging of 3.2 million cubic yards of river bottom and dumping of fill for the road bed "poses a serious threat to all the 48 species of fish that are found in the area" and especially Atlantic Sturgeon and Short-Nose Sturgeon.

Charter Meet Set Tonight

KINGSTON
Attendance at tonight's public hearing on financial administration sections of the proposed county charter was urged today by Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., chairman of the Ulster County Charter Commission. The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the County Office Building in Kingston.

"Now is the time to voice your opinion on individual charter proposals," Chairman Ingalsbe said. Among items for discussion tonight will be the proposal to have an elected comptroller to perform auditing functions for all units of county government.

Maintenance of Order Statement Approved by UCCC Trustee Board

Members of the Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College Tuesday night approved a statement on the maintenance of order on the campus.

The statement, required under New York State law, will be forwarded to the New York State Commissioner of Education and to the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York.

The statement was drawn up by an ad hoc committee consisting of trustees, students, faculty, administrators, the college attorney, and supporting staff of the college under the chairmanship of Dean of Students Gene A. Robbins.

To Take Steps The board of trustees in the statement agree to take appropriate and necessary steps through its designee, the college president, "to insure the maintenance of order on the campus and to insure that the ongoing purpose of the institution of teaching, research, service to the community... and the necessary administrative work is not violated or interfered with in any way."

The rules and policies applicable to the conduct of students, faculty and other authorized personnel on the campus are listed in the college catalog, faculty handbook, student handbook, board of trustees policies and civil service employee service contract.

The statement says that anyone interfering "in any way with the prescribed duties and purpose of the college shall be notified by the president of the college, or his designee, that they are acting in violation of the regulations established and approved by the board of trustees."

The statement says that "any person, either singly or in concert with others, engaging in acts disruptive of the teaching or learning process or other acts that infringe upon the purpose of the college" will be considered in violation of campus rules.

If a violation of the rules does not cease after a warning, or in cases of willful violation of the rules, "the chief administrative officer (president) of the college, or his designee, shall take action to cause the removal of the violator from any premises which he occupies in such violation and shall initiate disciplinary action."

IN-SERVICE PROGRAM — Three area students have joined the staff of District Attorney Joseph Torraca and are participating in a summer in-service training program. Shown with Assistant District Attorney Ellen Donovan (L) is Gerard A. Aquilina, of Kingston, a second year student in pre-law studies at Columbia University; John Modjeska of Tillson, a senior law student at Syracuse University; and John J. Dual-Enrollment System Proposed for Parochial Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Assembly Education Committee is giving serious consideration to the possibility of legislation aimed at easing the pressure on financially troubled parochial schools through a "dual-enrollment" system.

Under such a system, pupils in church-affiliated schools would take some courses in public schools.

Assemblywoman Constance Cook, R-Ithaca, the committee chairman, told reporters Tuesday there was a "real interest" among the members in the problems of Catholic and other private schools.

"If you look at the total education picture," Mrs. Cook said, "you cannot ignore the private-school student."

The committee met Tuesday at the Capitol, along with most other standing committees of the Assembly. The sessions mark the transition of the committee to "year-round" status.

Although Mrs. Cook did not specifically refer to it, the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York reported earlier this month a $1.2-million deficit in operations last year.

Cooperative programs involving private and public schools previously have been proposed in the legislature but languished in committees. Opposition usually is based on the so-called Blaine Amendment to the State Constitution, which prohibits direct or indirect state aid to church-affiliated institutions.

Mrs. Cook conceded that the constitutionality of the dual-enrollment proposal would have to be scrutinized. She added, however, that she did not believe such a system would violate the Constitution if students went from private schools to public schools specifically for such courses as mathematics, languages and physical education.

The pupils would be bused back and forth for this purpose. Mrs. Cook, in response to a reporter's question, said she did not know whether parochial schools face a "crisis," as some reports indicate.

"I don't know, but I just want to get the facts," she said.

Hashish Found, Man Receives 90-Day Sentence

KINGSTON State police investigating a motorcycle mishap near the intersection of Glasco Turnpike and the Woodstock-Saugerties Road, discovered a quantity of hashish on the person of the driver, early Tuesday night.

Walter Pearson, 21, of E. 7th Street, New York City, was arrested and charged with possession of dangerous drug, fourth degree. He pleaded guilty before Town of Woodstock Justice Edgar Leaycraft and was sentenced to 90 days in the Ulster County Jail.

Pearson was also issued a summons for driving without a helmet and face shield.

The accident occurred at about 5 p.m. Pearson apparently lost control of his motorcycle and went off the side of the Woodstock-Saugerties Road. He received bruises of the back.

Charge Violation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Highway Administration has charged Safeway Trails Inc., a bus line operating in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, with violating the regulation on use of drivers 6,000 times in nine years. In a complaint filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, the FHA said Safeway Trails kept drivers on the job as long as "80, 85 and even 90 hours" instead of the maximum 70 hours over an eight-day span. FHA asked the ICC to suspend Safeway Trails' operating certificate.

Watch on the Rhine After Fish Poisoned

BONN (UPI)—The insecticide said it was investigating to determine how the insecticide could have entered the Rhine. Need Five Years Endosulfan was the only explanation, however tentative, for the disaster the Rhine's fish population will need five years to overcome. Laboratory tests by Dutch authorities showed it took seven minutes for fish to die in Rhine water containing the insecticide. Their lungs were paralyzed, according to health officials. The substance is poisonous to fish but harmless to humans said today it manufactures and other creatures, a spokesman Endosulfan at one of its plants near the Main River, a Health Department said. The dead fish came in two waves, the first last Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The decision against a House vote today on President Nixon's surtax extension bill has shattered administration hopes for an early, dramatic anti-inflation move.

House leaders called off the crucial vote after head counts showed the measure to continue the surtax past its June 30 expiration date was likely to be defeated.

No new date was set for bringing the bill to the House. Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma told reporters it will not be called up until after the July 4th congressional recess.

Meanwhile, emergency legislation will be proposed to continue income tax withholding at the present rate—including the 10 per cent surcharge—until Congress completes work on the extension measure.

The Nixon bill would extend the surtax at 10 per cent for six months and at five per cent for a second six-month period, ending June 30, 1970. Other provisions repeal the seven per cent investment tax credit, provide for a special low income allowance taking two million poor families off the tax rolls, and give some tax relief to about 13 million taxpayers.

Peace Vigil Slated Monday

WEST HURLEY With the long drawn out peace talks failing to halt the deaths and wounds of hundreds of American boys weekly, according to the Ulster County Peace Committee, the group has gone on record urging an immediate end to the war in Vietnam. All those who take a similar stand are urged to join the Committee in a Peace Vigil to be held Monday, June 30, 12:30, in front of the County Building in Kingston. Those who have posters are urged to bring them. Anyone wishing further information about the vigil is invited to communicate with Ronald Glass in West Hurley.

fighting the bill in its present form said the House Ways and Means Committee now will be under pressure to speed up work on elimination of some tax preferences and incorporate them in the surtax extension bill. Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the group, predicted the delay will not gain any votes for the measure as it is now written. House Speaker John McCormack told newsmen the postponement was decided on at the request of Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who has been suffering bouts of intestinal illness. However, other leadership sources said a check of Demo-

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 25, 1969

Law and Order Wins

Paced by Los Angeles and Minneapolis, the law and order issue swept the New York City primaries for one-two-three consecutive victories in municipal elections in the nation's big cities last week.

State Senator John J. Marchi, the Republican and conservative candidate, defeated Mayor John V. Lindsay, the glamor boy of Republican liberalism.

City Controller Mario A. Proccacio defeated former Mayor Robert Wagner and a large field for the Democratic nomination. Marchi and Proccacio had one thing in common. They ran as the law and order candidates of their respective parties. They rode the crest of a backlash against the big city's labor troubles.

Sam Yorty won a third term as Mayor of Los Angeles on the law and order issue. Charles Stenwig, a politically unknown detective, won the mayoralty in Minneapolis on the same issue.

Entirely aside from the political fortunes of the candidates, the 1-2-3 sweep of this issue is saying things to the political leaders of this country. It is not too much to say that these mayoral victories strengthen the hand of President Nixon with Congress, for they show that the public still shares his concern on law and order. Nor that they account for the President's lead at this time in the polls pitting him against Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

The law and order trend also spurred Senator George S. McGovern of South Dakota to launch a selective campaign fund drive for the re-election of 14 liberal Democratic Senators who are expected to draw the heaviest fire from the Republicans in the 1970 campaign.

The big cities, liberal fortresses of the country, have turned their backs on liberalism. The effect is bound to be felt throughout the body politic at least in 1970 and perhaps late into 1972 and the national election.

Supreme Court Ethics

After persuading the United States Judicial Conference to adopt a code of ethics for the lower federal courts forbidding off-the-bench incomes (with very exceptions) and requiring annual confidential reports, Chief Justice Earl Warren failed to persuade the Justices of the Supreme Court itself to subscribe to the same code.

Only one member, Associate Justice Thurgood Marshall announced he will abide generally with the standards set forth in the code and will file an annual financial report with the Supreme Court. The majority decided to wait until the reopening of the court in October, when Warren E. Burger will preside as Chief Justice and another associate will sit in place of former Justice Abe Fortas.

The effect of this decision cannot help but raise eyebrows among those who had expected Warren to sweep his associates into accepting his leadership in this very personal matter. He sought to put the court on record as setting its own house in order to prevent the Congress from legislating a code for them.

It is just possible the Congress will act, somewhat severely, to restrict the Justices as their constituents demand. Also, Congress is piqued that the court took it upon itself to order the House of Representatives to cancel its ouster of Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, thus interfering in the prerogative of the House to rule on its own membership.

Inflation Control

The stock market, slumping to the lowest prices for the year, may have been the first sign that inflation control is beginning to be seriously felt. The highest interest rate in modern times is beginning to have its effect on would-be speculators.

However, there are other courses which are indicated but which have not been taken. Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy let slip one in testimony before Congress the other day, when he said that if inflation is not curbed soon, price and wage controls will be necessary. The quick way in which this slip was hushed show that the Nixon Administration either does not have the courage to invoke this tested limitations on the economy, or it does not believe it can get Congressional authorization to do so.

The administration is putting all its eggs in the basket of tight credit and high interest. It paid no attention to the demand of Senator John Sparkman, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, for a rollback of the 8 1/2 per cent prime interest rate banks are now charging. Sparkman thinks the high interest rate will add to inflation, rather than curb it, but his opinion is not shared by administration experts. Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee, sharing Sparkman's opinion, is investigating the prime interest rate by calling leading bankers before his committee.

The volatile sectors of the economy are dependent on debt expansion. If they can't get credit, they can't spend it. High interest rates are restraining credit for most borrowers. The public is suffering, but if it reduces inflation, and thus curbs high prices, the consumer will be the gainer in the end.

"Here Come the Replacements!"

David Lawrence Says Will Isolationist Policy Bring on Bigger War?

WASHINGTON — But appeasement has never paid, and a much bigger war may develop in Asia and Europe if the most powerful nation in the world brings its troops home from Vietnam without having really discouraged the Communists from further acts of aggression.

Criticism of the Vietnam War has been heaped on both the Johnson and Nixon administrations. Many people who do not really know the dangers are still saying, "Let's use the money for domestic purposes."

But this is a short-sighted view. By its indifference to what was happening in Asia in 1939, the United States made possible the attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese in 1941, and we then entered World War II. Speeches by President Roosevelt to placate public opinion were made during the 1940 campaign, and the Democrats won their victory because people were promised there wouldn't be any American participation in a "foreign war."

Virtually the same thing happened in the 1916 campaign when the Democrats triumphed in the re-election of President Wilson with the slogan, "He kept us out of war!" Thus the enemy was encouraged to believe that the United States wouldn't enter the conflict in Europe. Unarmed merchant ships had been torpedoed in 1915, with American lives lost, and the Berlin government, after an exchange of notes, had promised not to do it again. But in February 1917 unrestricted submarine warfare was ordered by Berlin, and American vessels couldn't travel on the high seas without facing the possibility of being sunk and the death of the passengers aboard. There was no choice but to declare war. The President recommended it, and Congress promptly approved of our entry into World War I in April 1917.

Will history repeat itself as an isolationist policy brings on a big war? Will American troops be withdrawn from Vietnam as thousands are being killed and wounded, and the enemy refuses to stop the fighting even while a peace conference is going on? If Red China and the Soviet Union establish puppet governments throughout Asia, will not the safety of Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines as well as the future of the countries in the Middle East and Western Europe be threatened? Will Japan not be dragged in, too?

These questions are pertinent because the Communist ambition to wield power everywhere in Asia is apparently motivated by the same ruthlessness of purpose as the recent increase of Soviet armies in Communist-bloc countries in East Europe and the emerging threats to the independence of West Germany.

The United States has the air power to bring Hanoi to terms. Such a step, if taken, would inform the world that America has not made its sacrifices in vain and intends to adhere to the principle that peoples, large and small, must have the right to determine their own form of government without outside interference or acts of aggression.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The important substance on earth is water. Without it, life — from plant to human — would cease to exist. Fortunately, it occupies more than two-thirds of the planet — about 2,250,000,000 cubic miles and assumes several cyclic forms, liquid, ice, humidity, mist and clouds.

It is indestructible. Science believes that there is not a drop more — nor a drop less — than when shallow water first formed the roundness of earth with its tidal currents. Volcanic eruptions eventually brought solid rock and earth above the water in the form of mountains. In time, these became continents.

These tides, conversely, slow the rotation of the earth by a fraction of a second every thousand years. The 24-hour day was possibly a 4-hour day a billion years ago. Originally, the earth probably consisted of hot gases. As it cooled, hydrogen and oxygen atoms fused, and formed a steamy mist. Much later, the steamy mist fell in torrential endless rains, the coolness of which formed a "solid" floor.

The editor of MD, who shares a deep and poetic respect for water, once wrote: "Water shapes the earth, controls the climates, provides man with food and a prodigious amount of energy. It constitutes four-fifths of body weight, performs and supports the internal functions of animals and plants. Its molecular polarity enables it to combine with countless chemicals; one of which is widely identified, salt."

The wonders of God-given water are endless. It is possible that a tear which fell from the eye of Jesus when he found his friend Lazarus had died, has been recycled by the warmth of the sun millions of times and may repose in a holy water font in some obscure church.

As a common substance, it not only supports life on land; it also gives life to more than a quarter of a million species which live in the sea. When it freezes, at 32 degrees Fahrenheit or below, it expands and becomes lighter. This is why ice floats.

The sun and wind will vaporize the water in the topmost leaf of the tree, carrying it back to the sky to help form a rain-bearing cloud. The same drop may be carried as much as seven miles above the earth, to remain wind-borne and purified before dropping with billions of others — perhaps on a farm. An inch of rain on a square mile of topsoil comes to over 17 millions of gallons.

One such drop, if it lingers on the surface, may be re-vaporized and head for the sky in less than a minute. If it penetrates deeply into the water table far below, it may require a century to resurface and become air-borne. Far below the Sahara desert, 150,000 cubic miles of water stand waiting.

The ocean holds 97.2 per cent of all water, which is used, in enormous tides, waves and wind, to slam the rocky beaches and reduce them to sand. The sea will win this battle, and eventually, the tallest mountain will be leveled under the ocean and the cycle of the volcanic eruptions will begin again. About two per cent of all water is locked up in glaciers and ice caps. The remainder, less than one per cent, is spread over the continents in lakes, rivers, table water and clouds.

Thousands of years ago, glaciers were so numerous that the level of the seas fell 300 feet, and land bridges appeared; this also occurred between England and France and between Siberia and Alaska. It may account for some of the mystifying migrations of peoples.

Two weeks ago, engineers diverted the water of Niagara Falls to study a means of stopping the erosion of slag. Man cannot stop it. Niagara drops 3,500,000 gallons of water over the edge of the falls every second. In a little more than 20,000 years, the falls will retreat to Lake Erie and become a level river.

The famed oceanographer, Columbus Iselin, chided science when he wrote: "...the sea is producing about as much as the land, yet man is taking only about one per cent of his food from his salt water environment." Man is more interested in the dead darkness of outer space than in studying the richness of the seas.

A solitary drop of water is a strange world indeed.

Drew Pearson Says Agnew Gets Better Treatment From Demos Than Republicans

New York Election — On June 14, the eve of the New York primary, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that "because of right-wing, semi-fascist reaction, Mayor John Lindsay, a liberal Republican, is in serious danger. Sen. John Marchi is giving Lindsay the fight of his life." They also reported that ex-Mayor Robert Wagner and Rep. Jim Scherer, both liberal Democrats, are trailing hard-nosed conservative Democrat Mario Procaccino.

This prediction hit the election right on the nose. Marchi and Procaccino both won.

WASHINGTON — Spiro Agnew, like most vice Presidents, continues to get the hairy end of the political lollipop. The House Appropriations Committee has just knocked out $150,000 of preliminary money to build a permanent residence for the VP.

Just before the Committee voted behind closed doors, Rep. Joe Evins, D-Tenn., joshed Republican members. "The motion to strike out the $150,000 comes from the minority side, from Mr. Bow," said Evins. "This is very interesting, because it will affect Vice-President Agnew, a Republican, who is now in office. Perhaps our Republican colleagues don't expect him to serve more than this one term."

"Oh, no, we are confident he will be in for two terms," spoke up Rep. Frank Bow of Ohio.

"But this project has been planned for years," said Evins. "Building a home for the Vice President is a good investment for the taxpayers, not a waste of money. The Vice President has a lot of official duties, such as receptions, entertainment and so on. An official home for him will take some burdens off the President."

"Oh, we have a great respect and affection for our Vice President," replied Bow. "It's just that we love economy more."

This and a slash in HUD funds for slum clearance are the most interesting cuts the Committee made. It was not exactly evenhanded justice, because the Committee trimmed $150,000 off the Vice President's housing in ritzy Northwest Washington and $150,000,000 for housing in the slums.

The public didn't know about it, but prior to this Vice President Agnew also has his "transition" funds slashed to the tune of $50,000 by Nixon himself.

"Transition" money is voted by Congress for both the outgoing President and the incoming President. It totaled $375,000 for Nixon and $75,000 for Agnew; with similar amounts for both LBJ and Vice President Humphrey — a total of $900,000 to switch Washington from Democratic to Republican control.

Prior to Inauguration, however, Nixon had spent $425,000, not $375,000 as allotted him by Congress. So the President-elect dipped into the funds of his Vice President by $50,000 to make up the difference.

Outgoing President Johnson, on the other hand, with $375,000 to spend, actually spent only $52,000 making the transfer of his papers and family to private life. So the House Appropriations Committee has now extended the time that LBJ has to spend the remaining $323,000 from July 20 of this year to June 30, 1970.

Martin Luther King's Tapped Wire

Disclosure in federal court that the FBI was tapping the wires of Dr. Martin Luther King has created a great deal of flak and many inquiries regarding previous disclosures in this column.

On May 24, '68, when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was running for President and had denied that he ordered or condoned the wide-scale wiretapping or eavesdropping undertaken by the FBI, this column reported in part:

"Attorney General Kennedy first ordered Dr. King bugged on July 16, 1963. His reason was that King was in touch with various Communists and was being influenced by them. ...The FBI was amazed and opposed it. Courtney Evans, who served as liaison officer between J. Edgar Hoover and Bobby Kennedy, told the Attorney General that King traveled a lot, so a wiretap might not be too effective. Also he said that the wiretap would have a bad reaction among Negroes if discovered. The Attorney General remarked that he was not in the least interested in repercussions.

"He did not press the matter, and so the FBI did not place any taps on King's wire in July, 1963."

"However, in October of that year Bobby Kennedy signed an order for a tap on King's wires, and thereafter King's phone conversations were monitored."

"The FBI faithfully carried on Kennedy's original instructions and submitted regular reports on King's activities — right up until the time of his death. These dealt in part with a Communist who was helping to write King's speeches."

Note: Sen. Kennedy, a relatively young man when he became Attorney General, matured as a Senator and became a strong champion of individual liberties. He did not get along with J. Edgar Hoover either as Attorney General or as a Senator.

Junk Mail

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount of Alabama and Ernie Petinaud, Negro headwaiter of the House restaurant, have been friends for years. Says the affable postmaster general to the House headwaiter: "Call me Red."

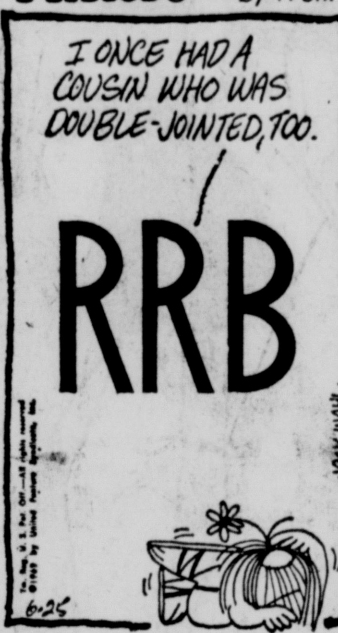

But Petinaud demurs. "That used to be your nickname 15 years ago or so," he reminded Blount recently. "At that time there was a reason for it, because you had more hair."

Blount frequently cites Ernie Petinaud when people complain to him about "junk mail" delivered by the Post Office Department. Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., registered such a complaint the other day at a closed-door hearing of the Appropriations Committee. "People toss big bundles of this stuff away when it comes third class," said Conte. "Another name for it is 'garbage.'"

"If I might elaborate," replied Blount, "Ernie, the maitre d' of the House restaurant, once put his hand on my shoulder and said, 'General, I want you to stop that junk mail from coming to my house.'"

"Then Ernie added, 'You can include those bills that come on the first of the month also.'"

Vigilantes Train to Combat College Campus Militants

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If any students try to take over a college building next year, it'll be the last building they'll ever take over.

Or so, in essence, says Louis T. Byers, a "fed-up American" who is organizing a vigilante backlash movement on the nation's campuses.

Byers is a disciple of "law and order," a defender of what he views "the American way," and asserts he has dedicated himself to "ridding our schools of pinks, Marx- and black and white gangsters."

He promises the extermination will be done any way necessary.

"If it comes to it, we will meet violence with violence. We don't intend to be pushed around any more by the Bolshevik conspiracy. We aren't opposed to physical force. And we are preparing to win any fight we enter."

By "we" Byers means the members of National Youth Alliance, a new organization headquartered here in the capital. The Alliance, formed from the youthful residue of the George Wallace for President campaign, is aggressively conservative in staff and structure.

Less Than 2,500 Members

Right now, Byers says, the NYA has less than 2,500 members, mostly loosely assembled. But he adds that "as word of our purpose gets out, we should grow by many thousands" until, by next school year, he expects to have affiliated cells of support in every college community.

These cells, he explains, will be made up of "dedicated young people, supervised on a national level, who will be able to handle any leftist Marxist-anarchist activity which takes place in their areas."

Byers emphasizes "any" activity.

"Let's say the following happens — some communistic SDS members (Students for a Democratic Society) take over a student union building somewhere. Well, then, right away our people will meet to react."

"At first we will do everything possible, peacefully, to get the rowdies evicted. We will apply pressure on the administration, the local community, and the police — to try to get a general uprising."

"But if nothing happens this way, then we'll have to resort to final means. We'll organize enough people and enough force to physically enter the building — and toss the militants out ourselves."

Byers says preparation for autumn contingencies, including the use of force, is going on right now and will increase as does NYA membership.

Educational Material

He says educational movies are being prepared, instructional sheets, reading lists — everything needed to train campus "counter-forces."

"We will teach them everything and anything," Byers insists. "If they need to learn about karate, we'll get karate instructors. If they need to learn marksmanship — we'll get police or military training."

"Understand now, we aren't going out looking for trouble. That's not our job. But our schools today are filled with troublemakers. And we just want to get rid of them and get back to the business of education."

Ironically, the "business of education" is not a subject which Louis Byers is overly familiar with. He's 37, for one thing, well past the age of students ties. Moreover, he says he has never been formally schooled in his life. He's the product of a split home, was never enrolled in any classroom and therefore refers to himself as "self-educated."

As far as political organization goes, however, Byers has some background. He stumped for George Wallace. He worked for the John Birch Society. And he buttonholes support with a fully experienced, very professional pitch.

Byers' pitch is, of course, that Right is right. And he is his own most ardent believer. In fact, he is so extremely Right, he admits he cannot always speak for the philosophies of National Youth Alliance.

NYA Philosophies

But no matter, he adds. NYA philosophies are conservative enough. The group symbol is an equal sign with a slash through it, to signify what Byers calls "the myth of equality." The group bible is a book called "Imperium," which dismisses minority peoples as "bloodsuckers." The group philosophy is that anyone not with them is against them.

In sum, says Byers, the NYA group, though composed of the young, is "patriotically mature." He says he realizes some people may see them as "militant or storm troopers," but he insists they are only patriots.

And come next school year, he adds, patriotism is going to make a comeback on the nation's campuses — "one way or the other."

We, the citizens of Kingston, New York, U.S.A., needed Jimmy Rundle more than the Vietnamese did. There are not enough Jimmy Rundles in the world today. He had ambition, initiative, integrity, a wholesomeness, politeness, a smile that could win your heart. He had a genuine love and respect for older people and sought their encouragement. Any parent who left their child at the "Y" under Jimmy's care, knew that he was in good hands.

The children and young people of Kingston whom Jimmy loved so well have suffered a terrible loss. Those of us who were his friends can only be thankful that we were fortunate enough to know him. It is our fervent prayer that this war end so that other

Recently, we were shocked and broken hearted to read of the death of Jimmy Rundle in Vietnam. This young man was so exceptional that it seems it would be very wrong if some small eulogy was not written so the people of his hometown would pause and remember, and pray for an end to this horrible war.

Jimmy was born to work with young people. From the beginning of his Y.M.C.A. membership, he was a leader. His devotion to those boys with whom he came in contact as a junior leader, senior leader, part time youth assistant, camp counselor, and finally youth director was without reservation. He guided young people with a love and compassion that was a unique gift in one so young. He worked very long and very hard to get an education and endured and recovered from a very serious auto accident in the middle of his college days. He persevered a Nobel Prize Winner, has said, "The trouble with this country is not student trouble but adult trouble... students don't see a way to live decent lives and they don't see a way to be sure there is any future at all."

Your definition of extremism fails to take into consideration the overwhelming ills of our society. It fails to be critical of pollution of our environment, the immoral war in Vietnam, the growth of chemical, biological war materials, the mounting cost of war which is little more than institutionalized violence, the poverty of more than 20 per cent of the American people, the hunger that exists in large pockets of the south and among the American Indians... the roster of ills and the destructive programs our government carries out, abetted by unethical and conscienceless universities and professors, are all the target of student dissent.

It will do little good to attempt to smear the attempts of the most enlightened segments of the American college students by castigating them as they were criminals. Let J. Edgar Hoover do that. The students are not asking for money, for special treatment; they are pleading with the establishment to awaken to conscience, to make a world where men may live in an environment spiraling arms race may cease, where we can feed the poor and succor the hungry and the ill, where men of intellect will not subvert their gifts to assist the nefarious war machine.

Be assured you will not succeed in destroying an idealism that America has not seen since the age of the founding fathers, but if you do, then barbarism will rule our land and not enlightened democracy.

The Big Deep
Editor, The Freeman

Another Point of View on Big Deep:

As I listen to the pros and cons of whether to open or close Big Deep, I can readily see that our present town board is not going to act on Big Deep based on any rational criteria presented by either side.

The question is not, do we need Big Deep.

The question is not, do we have the financial ability to operate big deep properly.

The question is not, do we just need bath houses, a road, parking area and proper supervision.

The fact is, we have lost Big Deep to the same element that misuses the village green, presents a poor model for our youngsters, and show no respect for the individual rights of others.

Must we retreat again and again under the pressure of those who abuse our community and its facilities.

In closing, I cannot help but think, that it is a shame that we must punish ourselves in a vain attempt to control the negative influence in our community.

Punishing the Students

Editor, The Freeman

Two years ago, by keeping wraps on its plan until the 11th hour, the Rondout Valley School Board, succeeded in pushing through a whopping new school budget with a 76% tax increase on its price tag. At that time, we the undersigned felt that the school board's program was over priced and its tactics underhanded. We subsequently protested the new budget through the Citizen's Committee, the local news media, and finally at a special hearing before the board of education in Albany.

The result was increased public awareness of what was going on and subsequently, board meetings were well attended and the trustees made a real effort to get budget information to the public.

Not unsuspectedly, the following year's budget was roundly voted down by an aroused public. Less understandably, this year's budget also met defeat despite Board efforts to pare it to the bone. The school system is now operating on an austerity program. Taxes may not have increased much but neither has the quality of education.

If budgets continue to meet defeat, our best teaching talent will begin to leave, inferior teaching materials will be used, and ultimately the school system academic rating will suffer and a 1st class school system will become 4th rate.

Like everything else, the cost of education is rising. Working together, taxpayers and board should be able to keep tax increases to a minimum, but it is unrealistic to expect that they will not rise at all. By continuing to vote down budget after budget, Marletown taxpayers are punishing the students, not the trustees.

We have had several new members elected to our board last year and this year. We should all support them in their endeavors, to keep Rondout Valley as a well rated school system.

Sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. Israel Rapoport
Mr. & Mrs. Thayer Willis

Help the Town Board

Editor, The Freeman

I am not for one minute going to knock or criticize our Town Board for magically dumping a dump on the Shultis Corners residents. These men on the board put in time, energy and thought on civic matters. Whether or not they come up with the best solution is something else.

It's you people out there sitting home watching your TV and munching your pizza that are to be knocked. These board members are trying, contributing, thinking and giving time; they are trying to reach some conclusion, solve so many problems which not only concern them, but YOU. Help them, guide them by thinking and discussing our problems of Saugerties with one another.

Discuss these matters in your home instead of the latest Bonanza show; discuss them with your neighbors, and attend the Town Meetings the first Thursday of every month (bring your snacks if you need them). Let the Board know that we out here in this rural area want to be represented on the board in order to have a say in our problems such as the vital need for zoning to prevent another magical happening such as the recent dump.

Get into your government and know who you are voting for and why. Vote on the issues and not on a word called the PARTY. Meanwhile help these men on the board to help all of us.

The Glue Holds And Booty Still Has His Head

LONDON (UPI) — Michael Booty, who stuck his neck out for his company's glue, still had his head today.

Booty, 27, went to Madame Tussaud's Chamber of Horrors Tuesday and put his neck on the chopping block under the same guillotine that beheaded Marie Antoinette and other French royalty two centuries ago. An executioner released the blade.

The stunt was to prove the strength of the new glue Booty's firm has developed. The rope lowering the guillotine blade to the block had been severed, then glued with the substance.

Engineers for the firm were confident the glue would withstand the 4,500 pounds of downward thrust exerted by the falling 52-pound steel knife. But they needed a live volunteer on the block to make the experiment more daring, and Booty was it.

"I'm being paid nothing, but it's worth it," he said.

Just to be sure, his firm insured Booty's life for $240,000, with his young wife the beneficiary.

The insurance company was less certain about the glue's potential, though, and ordered a metal bar installed over Booty's neck to stop the blade short just in case the patch broke.

The rope held and Booty emerged untouched. His wife, who apparently didn't think much of the whole thing, stayed home with their baby.

(The glue, "Power Pack," is manufactured by Borden Chemicals (U.K. Ltd.).

Hatching Chicks Viewed by Class

SAUGERTIES

Hatching chicks caused much excitement in the second grade class of Mrs. Marilyn Putnam's at the Grant D. Morse School recently.

On a Monday morning an incubator was loaned by Hechts Hatchery, Walden, along with 16 eggs which were within three days of hatching.

Although the eggs were watched constantly, Tuesday passed without event. Wednesday morning the children eagerly discovered many eggs with tiny holes pecked in them. Later that morning the first wet and scraggly chick broke out of its shell, followed by seven others before the close of school.

Thursday morning fifteen dry and fluffy chicks were removed to a heated box to await Mrs. Robert Lee of Blue Mountain, who had consented to take over their care.

With the aid of The Wonderful Egg, a book sent in by Miss Carolyn Wood, school librarian, the children learned about the development of the chick and its care, before and after hatching.

Open House was held for two days in order that all those interested could see the eggs in various stages of development.

City Teachers, School Board Reach Accord

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City teachers, whose union conducted strikes the past two years, reached tentative agreement Tuesday with the Board of Education on a contract that makes them the highest paid teachers in the United States.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, announcing the accord at a news conference, called it "a historic settlement." It was the first time, he said, that a teachers' contract had been agreed upon before the end of the school year. The last day of school is June 27.

Under the proposed three-year contract, the city's 57,000 teachers will earn, in the last year of the pact, from $9,400 to a top of $13,950. The teachers now make from $6,700 to $11,150. The top salary level will be reached after eight years of experience.

The union membership is expected to vote on the contract by Friday. Albert Shanker, president of the United Federation of Teachers, received noisy approval when he read the terms of the pact to the union's delegate assembly.

The contract would take effect on Sept. 9, the day after school begins.

Agreement was reached after talks intensified during 10 days of secret negotiations between the union and the new five-member Board of Education.

The teachers walked out for 14 days in September, 1967, over contract terms.

Last fall, a controversy over teacher security led to three strikes covering 36 of the first 48 days of the school year.

May Jobs Highest Ever

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Total employment of 7.97 million persons in New York State last month was the highest of any May on record, the state Labor Department reported Tuesday.

The total was 60,000 more than the 7.91 million reported for April and 110,000 above the May, 1968 total of 7.86 million.

The May unemployment rate for the state was 3.4 per cent. This equaled the low for May set last year. Total unemployment last month of 280,000 also equaled the record low for May set last year. The total was 10,000 more than the 270,000 reported in April.

Total employment in New York City was 4,123 million, also a high for May. The unemployment rate for the city was 3.1 per cent for May, a new record low for the month. Total unemployment in the city was 132,700, also a record low for May, but 9,000 above April.

Band Concert Set Thursday

TOWN OF ULSTER

The Town of Ulster in cooperation with the Town of Ulster Library Association and the Kingston Concert Band, Local No. 215, will hold a band concert on the library grounds on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. under the direction of Marlin Morrette, conductor.

This is the second band concert made possible by a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund, of which Peter Ferraro is trustee.

It is advisable that those wishing to attend the concert bring their own folding chairs for their comfort.

Leary Arrives For 'Awakening' With Hippies

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Timothy Leary, former Harvard instructor and experimenter in psychedelic drugs, arrived Tuesday night, hours late for an "awakening" described as "18 hours of continuous music and love."

Leary, his hair combed straight back and held in a small bun, received a warm welcome—and an exotic daisy-like flower—from about 50 hippies waiting at the Municipal Airport.

The hippies had waited for their guru since the afternoon, while Leary was sitting at home in Berkeley, Calif.

"Timothy's reservations got mixed up, and it really blew his mind," Terry Martin founder of ONK Enterprises, said.

Leary's trip was sponsored by ONK Enterprises and he was to appear at an all-day benefit in Iowa City to help the newly organized group off the ground financially. The group hopes to bring "real entertainers" to Iowa.

At a short news conference, Leary said if he were elected governor of California he would do "as little as possible."

Even if Leary had not appeared, the organizers of the happening said it would have happened. And they were philosophical about the lateness of their guest of honor.

"There is a sort of tragic chaos that goes along with any groovy thing we plan," one said.

Bed Smoke Fatal

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—Lee Bowman, 72 of Syracuse, died Tuesday at Upstate Medical Center of 3rd degree burns over more than 60 per cent of his body suffered two weeks ago in a fire at his hospital room.

A spokesman for the hospital said Bowman had just returned from surgery, June 11, when the fire started. The fire department said the blaze was caused by Bowman smoking in bed.

Ted Not Happy With U.S. Handling of War Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has told the Nixon administration he is not satisfied with the handling of South Vietnam's million-plus war refugees.

Kennedy laid out his position as his special subcommittee opened hearings Tuesday.

"This subcommittee is still distressed by the continued lack of urgency in the concern of Washington and Saigon for the daily lives of the South Vietnamese people," Kennedy said.

"We in the subcommittee have developed a natural skepticism of endless rosy reports that emanate from the civilian as well as the military side of the war."

Disputes Testimony

Kennedy, assistant Senate Democratic Leader, disputed Defense Department testimony that improved resettlement efforts and changed military tactics had reduced the number of refugees.

"The only way to really reduce refugees is by reduction of violence—and that goes for the Viet Cong as well as ourselves," Kennedy said.

John A. Hanna, administrator of the Agency for International Development, and Warren Nutter, assistant secretary of defense, said there were 1.2 million temporary refugees in Vietnam as of last month—116,000 fewer than at the year's start.

Under questioning by Kennedy, however, they said many civilians still are being displaced by combat and many return to their villages to find their homes destroyed.

Kennedy said he had inspected refugee camps in Vietnam and found "refugees" living on one side of a street while on the other side, living in the same conditions, were displaced civilians who had been compensated for the loss of their homes and were considered "resettled."

"You can fiddle around with the figures all you want," said Kennedy, "but they are still refugees."

The United States and the government of South Vietnam have failed, Kennedy said, to win the allegiance of the Asian nation's people.

The millions of refugees and civilian casualties would have been a source of political strength if they had been properly cared for and treated, he said.

"Now there is serious question whether there is time or energy left to care for the victims of this war," said Kennedy.

"The day is fast approaching when the people of Vietnam, by ballot or action, will declare their choice for the future. Where the millions of refugees stand could have been decisive. But we have little or no assurance that they will stand for all that we offered 35,000 American lives to gain."

Notes Improvements

Hannah testified there had been great improvements in programs to care for refugees since 1967, that camps had been improved and hospitals had been built with AID financing.

"What we are trying to emphasize today is the situation is greatly improved since 1967 but it is not good enough," he said.

He cited statistics to show immunizations against cholera, plague and smallpox in Vietnam had risen to 27.8 million last year as compared to 4.1 million in 1966.

He agreed with Kennedy the ultimate tragedy of the war would be if the populace decided, at the end of fighting, that Saigon did not care for their needs.

New Smoking Report Will Go to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government is putting the final touches on a new smoking-health report that may have important impact on the debate over curtailing cigarette advertising.

The report is expected to go to Congress next week. Although officials decline to give any details, indications are it contains new evidence linking cigarette smoking to cancer, heart disease and bronchial troubles as well as other illnesses.

"It certainly contains no significant negative evidence that refutes any previous conclusion," said Dr. Daniel Asnes of the National Clearinghouse on Smoking and Health.

Asnes, in charge of putting out the report, said its findings were part of a "continuing story that is being woven" linking smoking to disease.

The report is due to be sent to Congress July 1, one day after the expiration of the 1965 law that forbade government regulation of cigarette advertising for four years.

Under the 1965 law, manufacturers were required to carry a health warning on all packages of cigarettes that said: "Caution: cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The House of Representatives, in what amounted to a solid victory for tobacco interests, last week approved a bill that would toughen the warning on cigarette packages but also would extend the ban on regulation for another six years.

Both the Federal Trade and Communications commissions have said that if the law expired they would take steps that eventually would end all advertising of cigarettes.

Although the bill expires next Tuesday, the FTC and FCC could not act before extensive hearings.

The new bill passed the House with relative ease but faces much tougher going in the Senate. Democrat Frank Moss of Utah has promised detailed hearings by his Commerce subcommittee and has said that if all else failed he would try to block the bill by filibuster.

The new smoking report will be the third put out by the government since the surgeon general's famous 1964 report that pointed the first official finger of accusation at cigarettes. It cited a "causative" relationship between smoking and numerous diseases, most notably lung cancer.

The National Clearinghouse compiles its annual report from published or soon-to-be published papers written by other doctors and researchers all over the world.

Say Americans Insulted the Spanish Flag

ALICANTE, Spain (UPI)—Spanish police charged five cadets from the New York University Maritime College Tuesday with insulting the Spanish flag.

Police arrested John F. Carey, John Hopkins, Steven G. Prossman, Robert M. Graccia and Fred Ulrich early Monday.

Passersby said the Americans tore down a Spanish flag and screamed insults against Spain, the police said.

The cadets were crew members of the college training ship "Empire State" which docked in Alicante harbor last week. Police refused to give home addresses of the cadets.

In the Bronx, Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, head of the college, said he had received no formal report on such an incident and would not comment or verify the report of the Spanish police.

Monkey's Spacecraft Readied for Orbital Ride

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—

Ground crews readied one spacecraft today for a monkey's 30-day orbital ride starting Saturday and another for the Apollo 11 astronauts' journey to the moon, scheduled to begin in three weeks.

While the launch pad preparations went on, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin, as well as the five monkeys from which Saturday's spacecraft passenger will be picked, were undergoing intense training for the adventures.

Technicians began the job of installing explosive devices used to separate stages and blow away panels from the combination of the Saturn 5 booster and the Apollo spacecraft due to send Armstrong, Collins and Aldrin on their moon-landing expedition July 16.

The astronauts were putting in another day in simulators that duplicate everything they will have to do on their eight-day trip to the moon.

In another part of the spaceport, a two-stage Delta rocket and biosatellite spacecraft were being prepared for the scheduled 11:10 p.m. EDT launch Saturday of a pigtail monkey into an earth orbit which will last 30 days. Scientists believe it will provide valuable data on the animal's reaction to long-duration space travel.

During the month in orbit, the monkey's brainwaves will be recorded from surgically implanted sensors and radioed to scientists on earth. The capsule will be brought back from orbit by remote control and recovered in the Pacific Ocean.

Celebration To Include Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House unveiled plans Tuesday for President Nixon's trip to Massena, N.Y. Friday to meet Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau for ceremonies commemorating the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

President Nixon will be accompanied by his wife, Pat, and possibly other members of the family and Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers. The president is scheduled to fly from Washington to Plattsburgh Air Force Base, where he will board a helicopter for a trip to the international border at the Moses Saunders power dam along the Seaway. There he will be met by Trudeau. It will be their first meeting since Trudeau visited Washington in March when the two leaders discussed Nixon's proposed safeguard antiballistic missile system.

It was at this site, on June 27, 1959, that Nixon as vice president joined Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain for dedication of the Robert Moses port authority.

The two government chiefs will then drive to the nearby Dwight D. Eisenhower lock for official anniversary ceremonies.

A trip to Ile Saint-Helene, Que. will follow by helicopter where Nixon and Trudeau will tour the exposition "Man and His World" on the site of Expo '67.

The Canadian government will host Nixon at a private reception at the Helena De Champlain restaurant before they take a rapid transit ride to the Place De Nations Stadium for another ceremony dedicating an anniversary plaque.

The president is slated to arrive at Plattsburgh AFB at 12:20 p.m. Speeches are planned by Nixon, Trudeau and Governor Rockefeller at the Eisenhower lock about 1:30 p.m. The officials will depart for Montreal at 2:15 p.m.

Judges Reinstated

ATHENS (UPI) — Twenty-one senior judges, dismissed a year ago by the military-backed government for "insufficient moral and professional stature," were reinstated Tuesday. The supreme council ruled that the jurists had not been allowed to defend themselves. The ruling left open the possibility that the junta will move against the judges again.

Angelina Carpato and her three girls will be making fried crullers, for which they provide their own dough.

More Than 200 Graduate

SAUGERTIES involvement was reflected in the themes of addresses by all three student speakers at the 73rd annual commencement at Saugerties High School Saturday in which 207 seniors were graduated in the Class of 1969.

Valedictorian Ann Leslie Stegmayer, speaking for the class said, "Every day we are faced with the lack of communication which invites intolerance and hinders progress."

Sixth Graders Plan and Stage Puppet Show

A puppet show entitled "The Impractical Chimney Sweep" was presented recently by the sixth grade homeroom of Mrs. Richard Popowicz at the Grant D. Morse School.

The puppets and sets were made by the class. Mrs. Kurt Marek designed the sets built by Peter Bruyn, John Conway, Keith Olson, James Toennis, Edward Trnka and Wayne Van Warner. Howard Wittenbecher supplied the lumber for the set. The scenes were painted and designed by Renee Fierro, Michele Guerin, Bonnie Reese, Nina Squires and Scott Wilson. The puppet makers and puppet handlers were Laura Bishop, Wendy Dederick, Theresa Dill, Lena Fornito, Elaine Hennegan, Cecelia Ruby, Debra Short, and Nancy Wittenbecher.

The voices of the puppets were those of Thomas Abate, John Conway, Glen Hegner, George O'Connor and Keith Olsen. The narrators were Cathy Mitchell, Edward Trnka and Stephen Wehr.

Inspection Notice

All members of the Exempt Firemen's Association of Saugerties and Washington Hook and Ladder Company No. 1 have been requested to report to the firehouse at the municipal building on July 4 at 8:30 a.m. for the annual inspection. The hooks request from Joseph Schaffer, captain asks that all men appear in full dress uniform.

Budget Acceptance Is Urged by Rinaldi

The Town of Saugerties Summer Recreation program, which is slated to begin on Monday June 30, is in jeopardy if the second vote on the school budget is defeated on July 2, according to a statement by Councilman Bernard Rinaldi, recreation commissioner.

Use of school facilities is the hub of the summer program. The Board of Education has granted the town use of the gym at Mt. Marion and the junior high plus use of the arts and crafts room and all the athletic fields in cooperation with this program.

An austerity budget will be in effect if the issue is defeated again on July 2, thereby limiting use of school facilities.

The program will open at Cantine Field on July 1, and will also be held at the Jaycee Field, unless a favorable vote on the budget is cast on July 2.

Councilman Rinaldi noted that the summer program served more than 800 youngsters last summer and in their behalf urged a YES vote on the budget.

Men Are Overawed By Woman's Memory

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Lita of Spanish, Chinese, Philippine Quejado says she is "just interested" in other things she does and the people she meets. If you have trouble remembering names and such, perhaps you ought to try the "just interested" approach — which Miss Quejado credits for her fantastic memory.

She remembers names, dates, sports scores, can recite the first paragraph of every book she's read, and assorted oddments—like the name of the music critic who didn't like Margaret Truman's singing.

Miss Quejado won $32,000 on the old television show, $64,000 question for that bit of knowledge.

Born in the Philippines, she was adopted by a naval officer who married her mother during World War II. She said she is a person.

Public Criticism of Sen. Dirksen Increasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Resentment by the younger crop of Republican senators of the leadership policies and tactics of Everett M. Dirksen is breaking into the open and there are signs the public criticism may increase.

Last week freshman Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York made a floor attack on the veteran GOP leader for his attempts to block nomination of the domestic area, an end to the Vietnam war and a lessening of emphasis on military matters.

In this they join such GOP veterans as Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York, Clifford P. Case of New Jersey and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky who have always stood to the left of the party's leadership. "They're closer to the mood of the country," one Democratic leadership source said privately of the GOP newcomers.

One of the new Republicans agreed. Referring to efforts by himself and Sens. Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania, Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland and Marlow Cook of Kentucky, Sen. William Saxbe of Ohio said "We feel certain things that people who haven't run in some time, or who run in more rural states haven't found."

Saxbe said "I'm real disturbed" by Dirksen's belated efforts to block or change resolution now before the Senate to reassert the Senate's role in any commitment made by the executive branch to foreign countries.

Tight Position
"During the campaign," he said, "there was so much talk about Congress shirking its duties and giving a blank check to the President. It puts Republicans who were here and said this last year into a tight position."

Few critics, however, would go as far as Goodell who told the Senate last Wednesday that Dirksen should withdraw his objection to appointment of Dr. Knowles as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare or health and "allow the Senate to work its will."

While the New York Republican did not go as far as he had in a Canada press conference where he referred to Dirksen as an obstructionist, he did say he believes "very deeply in the President's right to nominate whomever he wants for such a post and that "these principles, essential facets of our government, are being violated."

And Brooke, who has told the White House there are sufficient votes to confirm Knowles, is eager for Nixon to press the matter.

SEN. DIRKSEN

Dr. John H. Knowles as the nation's top health officer.

Eager for Showdown
And Massachusetts Sen. Edward W. Brooke, also serving his first term, has been eager for a showdown with Dirksen over the Knowles affair.

These moves are symptomatic of growing feeling among the new GOP senators that Dirksen is out of step with the times.

While the critical Republicans are unlikely to dislodge Dirksen now from the party leadership he has held for a decade, they could pose a threat should the 1970 election bring another influx of younger, more liberal GOP senators as happened in 1966 and 1968.

Two-thirds of the GOP senators elected in those two years, plus two appointees, favor greater GOP initiatives in

Crews Clear Tracks After Derailment

RUSSELL, Mass. (AP) — Repair crews using cranes worked Tuesday to clear the east and westbound tracks of the Penn Central Railroad connecting Springfield and Albany, N.Y., after the derailment of 28 cars of a 93-car freight train Tuesday morning.

There were no injuries, but approximately 900 feet of track were ripped up and railroad communication lines were severed. The accident occurred on a hill in Woronoco, 10 miles west of Springfield.

The incline of the 80-foot embankment prevented easy clearing of the tracks. It also caused several of the cars involved in the accident to roll into the back yard of Alfred Humphreys of Woronoco.

Humphreys told police that one car landed in his garden and another about 15 feet from his barn.

Witnesses said freight and gondola cars were piled high atop one another, blocking the tracks.

Officials of the Penn Central said the train was bound from Selkirk, N.Y., to Springfield. Track workers and equipment were dispatched from Albany, and Boston. Passengers are being rerouted around the site.

Five Years for Mom
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor B. Kleuh, 54, a mother of three, has been given a five-year prison term for embezzlement of funds from the Family Center of Catholic Charities, where she worked as a bookkeeper.

Judge George D. Ogden, of Monroe County Court, handed down the sentence Tuesday. Mrs. Kleuh had pleaded guilty to second-degree grand larceny in taking more than $1,500.

Judge Ogden said that although she admitted taking more than $23,000, investigators discovered $127,987 missing from the agency's accounts. He said "sloppy bookkeeping, made it impossible for investigators to determine the exact amount that was taken."

Body Recovered
SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — The body of Mrs. Jane Konopka, 54, of Schenectady, was recovered Tuesday from the Mohawk River here shortly after being spotted by the crew on a passing tugboat. She lived at 1820 Van Cortland St.

A meeting of all parents of campers registered for the 1969 season of Camp Jay Cee Cee, the Jewish Community Center Day Camp, will be conducted Thursday, June 26, at 8 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center, Al DiBernardo, camp director, and Dr. Herman Lowe, camp committee chairman, have announced.

This will be the first opportunity for parents to meet with the new camp director. The camp staff will be introduced, bus schedules will be discussed, and the camp program and other facets of camp also will be discussed.

Woodstockers Face Problem

sort of community action to help our young people in this respect." Pointing out that a Drug Action Committee has worked in other small towns, whose residents finally had to admit to "rampant drug problems," she made a strong point that "our own children — not outside children — have been having problems." Urging that all Woodstockers "work to solve it," she suggested the problem "is far more widespread here than most of us are willing to admit."

Escape From Squaredom

Tony Montanaro, Woodstock resident known to millions of TV viewers as one of the country's most talented mimes, was also a panelist. He told the audience he came here "to escape from a community that was absolutely square." He had learned to "enjoy life" again here, he said, but was becoming concerned by "the fear he is beginning to sense." He contended there is "a lot of hatred here, not against hippies, but against anything that might disturb the status quo." Contending that the drug problem was here long before the hippies came, he urged Woodstockers "to encounter each person we meet as an individual," before deciding whether he is good or bad. "Hate criminals," he said, "not hippies." Montanaro also suggested that a hostel would help to handle the problem and that "people who want to abuse others are in trouble."

Sara Mulligan, actress, wife of a cartoonist, and long-time worker for a recreational center here, chastised the town fathers and Woodstock's people for failing for years to "look at a problem and do something about it before it gets to the point where you can't do anything about it." Woodstock has always taken the attitude, she said, to "live and let live and be friendly, but don't ever give too much of yourselves or don't ever put yourselves out too much because it might cost you something." She maintained the town fathers and others "wanted to keep Woodstock the way it was, year after year, when the town was not the way it was, and when there have been constant changes."

Said Mrs. Mulligan: "There is a crisis," suggesting it might not have been so great had Woodstock supported a recreation center earlier, "and you must stop and look at yourself and decide if you really want to do something about it, and what you are going to do about it." Dr. Frederick Elias, of the Northern Dutchess Hospital staff and a long-time Woodstocker, also had harsh words for the town board, criticizing its closing of the only three recreational areas in the town earlier this year. "This is the cry of wolves for blood," he charged, suggesting that "hate does not unify a town," and that "it is not enough to dismiss these people and use some opprobrious name." Dr. Elias contended the solution does not lie in arresting a 15-year-old taking narcotics, but in closing off the source of drug pollution by arresting the "millionaire Mafia extortionists, aided and abetted by officials, in the victimizing of children."

Perhaps the prevailing mood of this particular meeting was best summed up by a Glasco Turnpike resident during the question and answer period. She challenged the crowd with the emphatic statement: "The hippies were always here since I came here and since I can remember." The current controversy, she said, made her "feel like someone who has had the game changed." She noted that her family came here for "what Woodstock is right now," cannot understand the cries of "THEY are coming . . . THEY are going to get us!" Posing her question to panel members and the crowd at large, she asked: "What is the crisis? Are THEY advancing down Route 375?"

Successful Investing...

Investment Advisor & Analyst

Mother & Four Sons to Pool Funds for Investment

Q—My four sons and I would like to pool our money and start a monthly investment plan in an oceanography company. What stock would you suggest?

—J. F.

A—Since some of your young sons are minors, there may be some technical problems in establishing a joint account. Alpine Geophysical, reviewed previously, is active in many areas of oceanography. The company and its subsidiaries manufacture marine instruments and systems, conduct geophysical surveys, produce a concentrated marine protein and operate a cargo fleet. A 50% interest is held in both an offshore mining company and a West Coast seafood company and a 33% interest in an Alaskan seafood cannery.

Alpine sold its 50% interest in cable TV system which will produce a nonrecurring gain of 30 cents a share. In the fall, construction will begin on a $3 million plant for producing Marine Protein Concentrate. Test marketing by a pet food canner of a cat food with MPC was successful, and nationwide distribution is planned. Nine months' earnings, through January 31, were 39 cents a share, up from 24 cents last year.

Q—I am in my 70s and need more income. I hold American Telephone, Borg-Warner, El Paso Natural Gas, Pacific Lighting, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and two mutual funds—all worth about $15,000. What changes should I make?—W. P.

A—The highest yield could be achieved by selling and investing in high-grade bonds. Unfortunately, commissions and capital gains tax would probably eat up the additional income for several years. A few changes offer some relief. If you didn't tender Youngstown for Lykes' 7½% debentures, following the merger, you'll add 70 cents a share to your dividend when new preferred shares are received.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Help for the Indians on Way — North American Traveling College on Road

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP)—The project lives up to the expectations of its founder, the college-on-wheels eventually may offer its services to other Indians as far west as America's Great Plains states.

Ernest Benedict, a Mohawk Indian leader at the St. Regis Reservation straddling Northern New York and part of Ontario, has been working full-time for the last 15 months to make the unique school a reality.

He has obtained support from a group of young Canadians and received this week $4,000 in contributions from the United Methodist Church in New York.

With this start, Benedict plans to take his van-type truck to Caughnawaga, near Montreal, leaving here June 29.

His purpose is to help Indians learn basic work skills, start consumer cooperatives and

Cavanagh Declines 3rd Term as Mayor

By JANE DENISON
DETROIT (UPI)—Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, putting his children's welfare above his own ambitions, announced today he will not run for a third term in racially and economically troubled Detroit.

"Our work is unfinished and will not be over until there prevails in Detroit the harmony that justice alone can assure," but I am not so vain as to think that Detroit can endure and prosper only if I am the mayor," he said.

"After living eight years with the heavy burdens of this office, I have decided that the time has come to give greater consideration to the needs of my children.

"Therefore, I shall not be a candidate for re-election."

Cavanagh said he expects to endorse one of the 13 candidates already in the mayor's race, but ruled out support for Councilwoman Mary Beck, running on a strong law-and-order platform.

He said victories of conservatives in the mayor's race in Los Angeles and the mayoralty primary in New York City nearly prompted him to try for another term. But he said his children's welfare made him change his mind.

Cavanagh also said he was "convinced" he could win if he ran.

Cavanagh has been mayor for nearly eight years in a period that has seen Detroit plagued with racial strife, inadequate financing, teachers' strikes and deterioration of the inner city.

His decision not to seek a third term appeared to stun his aides.

At a private meeting before the news conference, many of his staff people arrived wearing "Cavanagh Cares" buttons, anticipating the launching of a campaign. They emerged glum from the private sessions. A few women were in tears.

The four sons awarded to Cavanagh's custody when he and his wife, Mary Helen, were divorced last year were with him for the announcement.

Mrs. Cavanagh has custody of their other four children, two more boys and two girls.

Cavanagh, 41, did not say what his plans would be when his term ends in January.

SEEK GIRL'S KILLER — Police are conducting a massive manhunt for the murderer of Virginia Smith, 13. The nude body of pretty Claremont, Calif., girl was discovered late Monday in a canyon about two miles from her home. Examination revealed she had been beaten and stabbed. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Slain Near Home

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Police said a 22-year-old mother was shot to death early today as she stepped out of her automobile upon her return home from work.

The dead woman was identified as Mrs. Ethel Murray. Police said her body was found on Beacon Street, beside her home. Other details were not available immediately.

Durable Goods

LONDON (UPI) — Anne Hugessen is fighting for her chastity belts, which she contends are safety equipment and not subject to a 13.75 per cent tax the British government is trying to impose on them. The taxmen say the belts, made by Anne's company as souvenirs, are durable goods.

Consumer Paying Entire Bill For Store's Shoplifting Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Every time a housewife shops, up to a nickel of each dollar she spends pays the shopkeeper for his losses due to crime.

"It has to be brought home to the consumer that she pays for theft," said James Gordon Gilkey, vice president of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., a Chicago-based department store chain. "We have to pass along this shrinkage to customers as part of our costs."

Losses from thefts of all types average 1.5 per cent of all sales in department stores, according to Carson Pirie Scott Chairman C. Virgil Martin. Among Chicago stores the average is 1.89 per cent and losses are upwards of 5 per cent for several chains of discount stores, he said. This does not include the cost of insurance and crime protection.

"The customer pays in a number of ways other than money," says J. Gary Taylor, general manager of Bergdorf Goodman, a New York store. "She loses in service as the store is forced to pay for crime and cut services she used to get free. She also loses in availability of selection."

"We used to deal with theft as an exception to the rule," Taylor said. "But now it's an on-going problem."

The problem has reached such proportions that the National Industrial Conference as well as individuals often fail to report thefts.

The Senate's Select Committee on Small Business is holding hearings to determine the extent and causes of crime against business. It plans to offer legislation attacking the problem on a nationwide level. The committee also is looking for ways businessmen can prevent losses due to thefts.

A study on crime against small business sponsored by the Senate committee put the total cost of crime against business at $3 billion in 1968. This figure does not include losses in the distribution and transport of goods.

Albert J. Reiss, a professor at the University of Michigan, who headed the study broke down the business crime bill this way:

Burglars stole $958 million, vandalism cost $813 million and shoplifters took some $504 million. Other losses came from employee theft, $381 million; bad checks, $316 million, and robberies, $77 million.

Reliable figures on the cost of thefts against the transport industry aren't available but truckers estimate the loss at more than $1 billion annually.

Law officials agree, however, that reported crime is only the top of the iceberg. Businessmen

Authorities Probe Death Of Taxpayers Director

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army authorities and the FBI were investigating Tuesday the death of Clarence Ziegler, executive director of the New Jersey Taxpayers' Association, who fell to his death from a hotel window here.

Ziegler, 45, of Ewing Township, N.J., was attending the Eastern States Taxpayers' Association meeting at the hotel when he died Monday.

He apparently fell to his death while four other Trenton, N.J., area men slept in the same three-room hotel suite.

One of them, Frank W. Haines of Ewing Township, said the Army and FBI were routinely investigating the death because it occurred on a military reservation.

"No one knows for sure when he fell," Haines said. "It appears to be accidental."

Haines added that Ziegler and the others had returned to the suite about 11 p.m. Sunday and that Ziegler apparently fell sometime before dawn. He added that he and the others did not learn of the fall until Monday morning.

Ziegler had been executive director of the association since 1964. Prior to that, he was executive director of the Galveston County Regional Council, Tex.

He also was treasurer of the National Taxpayers' Conference and a member of the Governmental Research Association.

A native of Nazareth, Pa., he was graduated from Lehigh University in 1947.

Surviving are his widow, Phyllis, four children and his mother.

Ziegler lived at 32 Delaware Ave.

20th Century Stops at the Border of Wooded Area

LONDON (UPI)—The 20th century stops at the border of a 130-square mile wood area in southwest England.

It still is called the New Forest, although it was given its name by William the Conqueror nearly 900 years ago. The 40,000 inhabitants of New Forest, under protection of the crown, have their own laws and their own names for things. For example, forest rangers are called "agisters," and laws are called "commons." They even have their own court and their own capital.

4 From County At Cancer Meet

NEWBURGH
Four representatives from Ulster County attended the recent rehabilitation meeting at St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, it was announced today by Dr. Harri H. Janssen, president of the American Cancer Society's Ulster County Unit.

Dr. Daniel Burdick, chairman of the New York State Division, ACS, sub-committee on rehabilitation, was moderator. Attending from Ulster County were Miss Mary Keating, director of In-Service Programs, Benedictine Hospital; Mrs. John Krom, Registrar, Ulster County Cancer Registry; Mrs. Walter D. Yaeger of New Paltz, chairman of the local Unit's Public Education Committee and Mrs. Paul J. Wendrow, executive director of the Ulster County unit, American Cancer Society.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss problems relative to rehabilitation and pertinent to each area and specifically to assist in initiating or augmenting programs for the rehabilitation of the mastectomy patient.

Guidelines for implementing MRS (mastectomy rehabilitation service) programs were distributed and discussed, as well as public and professional materials available from the American Cancer Society's Unit offices. The aim of MRS program is to assist women who have undergone a radical mastectomy operation in achieving maximum physical, cosmetic, functional and psychologic recovery.

Other objectives are to recognize the impact of breast cancer and its treatment on the patient and her family; to acquaint the hospital staffs (medical, nursing and social services) throughout the county with American Cancer Society services and programs and to provide In-Service training for nurses, using American Cancer Society films and materials.

Dr. Glenn D. Van Gaasbeek is chairman of the Ulster County Unit, ACS, Sub-Committee on Rehabilitation.

Health for All

"BLACK LUNG"

Pneumoconiosis means, literally, "dusty lungs." It's a medical term applied to occupational dust diseases such as silicosis and others. For their special kind of dusty lungs, coal miners have a special name—"black lung."

Call it what you will, it adds up to crippled breathing; and in all too many cases it means eventual death. Estimates of the number of miners and ex-miners afflicted by "black lung" range as high as 125,000.

Early this year "black lung" started breaking into the news, partly through the activities of three crusading physicians. They toured the coal regions, stumping for legislation to improve mine safety standards, their crusade touched off a lively debate, with state and national legislative hearings, corrective bills put forth and a statement by the Surgeon General of the U.S. Public Health Service. He emphasized the connection between pneumoconiosis and coal dust and criticized both existing and proposed safety laws as inadequate to the need.

Important light was thrown on the "black lung" controversy by one of the three specialists, Dr. Donald L. Rasmussen, in the American Review of Respiratory Disease. The scientific journal, published by the American Thoracic Society (medical arm of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association), presented his investigation of lung disease found in over 100 coal miners. He expressed the view that their disease, contrary to the claims of mine operators, was caused by excessive coal dust in the mines.

Comparing conditions here and abroad, Dr. Rasmussen told a reporter: "They are doing so much more there, preventatively—it's embarrassing to compare notes. If we really wanted to do something about 'black lung' we could."

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Catskill Region TB and RD Association, 124 Green Street.

"The Common of Mast," give anyone to take wood "by hook or by crook," meaning that one is entitled to any fallen wood that can be picked up or separated from trees without cutting. This right also applies to the picking of wild fruit and the use of running water.

"Rights of Turbary" permits the cutting of turf, for burning on the cottage hearth. Some New Forest law allows cottages have a right to as many as 2,000 turves a year. It was here in the glades, right to a home if he can build moors and marshes that his son, William Rufus, or William II, was killed by an assassin's arrow. Henry VIII used New Forest oak trees to build his navy, as did Queen Elizabeth I.

The forest has hardly changed its appearance since the days of William the Conqueror, who turned it into his hunting ground and also Spanish Armada in 1588. The forest is the home of the New Forest pony descendants of the original small hardy horses of ancient Britain.

Residents of the forest pay pony fees to an "agister" who tailmarks the animal and then gives the money to the clerk of the verderers.

NEW TYPE BRAILLE SLATE

(UPI TELEPHOTO.)

Woman Reverses Braille System

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—In the early 19th century an officer in Napoleon's army invented the Braille System that allowed blind persons to run their fingers over embossed figures and read relatively quickly. But the process of writing Braille has always been frustrating because it must be done backward—from right to left. Even a grocery list is a difficult project.

In order to produce the raised dots, a blind person must turn the paper over and punch the dots with a stylus into a slate containing several hundred little hollows. In over 150 years no one had improved on the method.

Enter Mrs. Ruth Barr, an occupational therapist of suburban Webster Groves, Me., who has developed a system of writing Braille from left to right.

Mrs. Barr first came into contact with the Braille system eight years ago at McMillan Hospital. She explains simply, "I saw the need for something better."

"I thought of how the blind had been writing backwards all these years and I asked myself, 'Why can't that process be reversed somehow?'"

Perhaps, she thinks, the first idea for the new way of writing came to her when she was making cookies in her kitchen for her husband and two sons.

She looked down at the cookie cutter and noticed how it bit into the dough and left its imprint.

That, basically, is her new idea for Braille writing—make the stylus hollow instead of pointed, and put little bumps instead of hollows on the slate. Then the blind could write from left to right.

In the past eight years Mrs. Barr has dedicated herself to promoting the new method and producing the new styli and slates.

Her first problem was to make just one new slate and stylus. Mrs. Barr called on a friend who made the first metal prototype with some help in design from Dr. J. M. Enoch, Associate Professor of Ophthalmology at the Washington University School of Medicine.

Mrs. Barr was satisfied with the writing it produced, but thought that a better type of paper could be found. A vinyl product proved to be what was needed.

Then the next problem facing Mrs. Barr is the one that faces all inventors: How do you get your idea into production—especially without any money?

"I went to so many tool and die companies," she said. "They usually needed something like $2,000 to make 10 of them."

That problem was solved by a $1,000 windfall from the Barnes Hospital Women's Auxiliary. A couple of tool and die makers said they would be willing to make 20 slates for the $1,000. They made 10, and after one small revision in the cost that holds the paper, they made another 10.

Mrs. Barr took her 20 slates down to the Missouri School for the blind and the school's principal, Dr. Walter E. Evans, agreed to let her test the new slates on one class. The third grade was chosen because these students had not begun learning Braille writing by the old method.

She visited the students each week to check on their progress with her slates. After a few weeks the third graders were making less than the usual amount of mistakes that turned up on the old slates. Some were writing faster.

Mexico Expects Surplus of Men

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Girls, are you looking for a place where there's a surplus of men?

There'll be such a surplus in Mexico by 1980, according to a new study.

A surplus of men will result from the fact that there'll be a shortage of 652,700 women in Mexico in just 21 years, according to population projections developed by the Center for Private Sector Economic studies, in Mexico City.

Of a total population of 71,940,500 in Mexico by 1980, says the study, 36,296,600 will be males while the female population will be 35,643,900. By that time, 66.7 per cent of Mexico's population will be living in urban areas, the projections show.

There's already a shortage of women in Mexico, the study indicates. With an estimated population in 1970 of 51.08 million, 25.6 million will be males and 25.4 million will be females.

The center's figures were based on a Bank of Mexico study titled, "Projections on the Population of Mexico, 1960-1980."

Cleaver Among Discontented

Panthers Find Cuba Is Not Utopia

HAVANA (AP) — An American Black Panther said today he and other members of his party have been "isolated and imprisoned" in Cuba and they want to leave. He implied that Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver is among the discontented.

Raymond Johnson, 22, of Alexandria, Va., told a newsman he was instructed by a high-ranking Panther in Cuba to report this feeling.

Johnson, who described himself as a lieutenant in the Black Panther movement and an airline hijacker, said: "The Panthers have not been received in a revolutionary fashion. We have been condemned to live in Cuba."

He added that members of the black militant organization had been imprisoned, isolated, banned from Havana and told they could not organize their party in Cuba.

"These imprisonments amount to more than just being confined for a period of investigation," Johnson said.

"Some have been imprisoned a second time. They have been sent to completely isolated sections of the island and forced to work in labor camps."

Johnson said he expected to be arrested at any time, adding: "It is possible some of the Panthers will be arrested today."

"We would like this information to reach the Black Panther party in the United States so they will know the unrevolutionary way we are being treated," he said. "We want them to protest at Cuban missions everywhere."

The only Cuban mission in the United States is at the United Nations.

Johnson said he was jailed for 21 days after he hijacked a National Airlines jet from New Orleans to Havana on Nov. 4, 1968.

"We think there's racial discrimination in Cuba," he said. "It's a peculiar kind of racial discrimination. In some ways it's comparable to attitudes in the United States. White Cubans have a subconscious conspiracy to maintain control of the island."

"We feel the Cubans have a misunderstanding of the political, cultural and revolutionary thinking of black Americans, but primarily of the cultural aspect of the black revolution."

"We are talking about a social and cultural revolution. And in our experience, we have seen people here lagging in the revolution of the mind."

A former student at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., Johnson said the Black Panthers had been discouraged from talking to black Cubans about black awareness and the wearing of Afro hair styles.

"We found this is completely repressed by Cuba. We have talked to a number of Cuban women and they have started wearing natural hair styles. But to relate to one's African heritage in Cuba is looked down on."

More than 30 per cent of Cuba's 8 million people are black.

Johnson claimed that some Panthers who have talked black culture to Cubans have been branded counterrevolutionaries, one of communism's most serious crimes.

He said most of the Panthers would like to go to Africa, but they have been told not to contact African embassies in Havana.

Johnson also said Omar Talif, a party member from New York, and his American wife and child "disappeared" after being told by Cuban officials they were "black racists."

Johnson said he did not know how many Black Panthers currently are in Cuba but he identified four:

Byron Muese Booth of Los Angeles, Calif., deputy minister of defense; Earl Farrow of Denver, Colo., deputy minister of information; Charles Rhaim Smith of Los Angeles, and Lt. James Akili and his wife of New York.

Johnson said all the Panthers he knows have requested permission to leave Cuba. He turned aside questions about Cleaver on security grounds, but added: "An exceedingly high-ranking Black Panther officer doesn't like the treatment of black revolutionaries and the Black Panthers here at all."

BOCES Makes Variety Possible

Vocational-Technical Courses Open Doors

EDITOR'S NOTE: Vocational educational programs and Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services are almost synonymous in most people's minds. Today's fourth article in the five part series on BOCES will explore just how vast the vocational offerings are in the county thanks to the board's flexible policy.

By JEAN F. DOLAN

NEW PALTZ

Men to man the plow and lay bricks in time honored tradition of the trades are learning their craft well. So are girls learning, child care, sewing and practical nurse skills—again in time honored tradition.

But this is just one phase of the extensive vocational-technical training offered Ulster County students under the Board of Cooperative Services program.

Labeled "Education for Security," the V-T education administered by BOCES is much more than drop-out insurance. The county-wide program grew out of a tri-county survey conducted during the 1965-66 school year. Every statistic pointed to insufficient vocational and technical courses oriented to the needs of the labor market and inadequate courses to meet the needs of all the students.

The survey also indicated that there was need for some type of vocational education in the secondary schools for more than one-half of the enrollment.

Flexibility Stressed

Flexibility was a key factor in assembling a county plan from the survey findings. Michael Aronica, director of vocational education, with chief administrators of the county as a policy committee, devised the current operating plan consistent with the needs of local industry and the student. The five-year project remained malleable, ready to adapt to change and modification as warranted by the community and the student.

From this base, the vocational education program was started with two buildings and 390 students. Now the program encompasses six facilities of varying size and use for an enrollment of 700.

The largest base at the present time is the former Ruzzo Bowlatorium in Kingston, where students run the gamut from electronics to needle trades. Curriculum includes building trades, metal occupations, electricity and electronics, automated data processing, technical drafting, garment making, child care and domestic services.

Building maintenance, auto mechanics and appliance repair courses are conducted on the second floor of the H. F. King Company, Broadway in Kingston.

Study Sites

Also in the city is the practical nurse education program, housed in the former Kingston Hospital nurses training facilities.

At the BOCES center on Route 32 North, New Paltz, auto mechanics, cosmetology and some data processing courses are taught for students from Southern Ulster County Schools.

The agricultural courses are offered at the Rondout Valley and Wallkill Central High Schools, both in the heartland of Ulster farm country.

In addition to the vocational offerings at the BOCES facilities, certain courses are available on a learn-on-the-job basis. Students are placed when ever possible where they can learn and earn on a part-time basis. Two such courses are sheet metal working and cooking and food handling. This part of the plan is so flexible that many students can benefit from it.

This on-the-job approach is part of the practical nurse course too. In addition to classroom instruction, students participate in bedside nursing experience at Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals. At Hudson River State Hospital girls receive instruction in psychiatric nursing.

Touch Home Base

While the students are involved in the far flung vocational studies they do not lose touch with their home school. Scheduling calls for a half-day at their regular school and the other half-day at the vocational classroom. Students are transported to and from facilities by bus.

Through vocational and technical education as through all its many services, BOCES aids participating school districts in providing a comprehensive well rounded program for all students. Individual schools would be hard put to incorporate all phases available through the cooperative venture.

Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston Schools Consolidated, commenting on the vocational educational program noted that "BOCES has provided a more comprehensive program for our vocational education students at a cost I do not feel we could duplicate. The transfer of this program to BOCES gave us the added bonus of allowing us to use our Vocational Building for much needed classrooms for other subjects."

Under the projected plans for the coming school year a number of additional courses were slated to be made available to students in the vocational-technical division. However, due to budget restraints within the county, they have been eliminated for the 1969-70 school year. Among courses which must go by the boards for the time being are plumbing and heating, oil burner installation service, gasoline and diesel engine mechanic and dental assistant.

Offers Wide Choice

The vocational education program works best when it contains a broad choice of occupational preparation for students who do not attend post-high school institutions. According to the director, Aronica, the key word in planning vocational-technical courses is flexibility and realistic curriculum tuned to the students and the community. The result is a labor force which meets the needs of local industry insuring healthy economy all the way around.

Two other roles filled by Ulster County BOCES are in the areas of special education for children who have unique learning problems and the administration of federal programs ranging from enrichment projects to education for the large migrant population in southern Ulster County.

The final article in this series will delve into those programs and take a look at the future activities of BOCES.

NEXT: Special Programs and the Future.

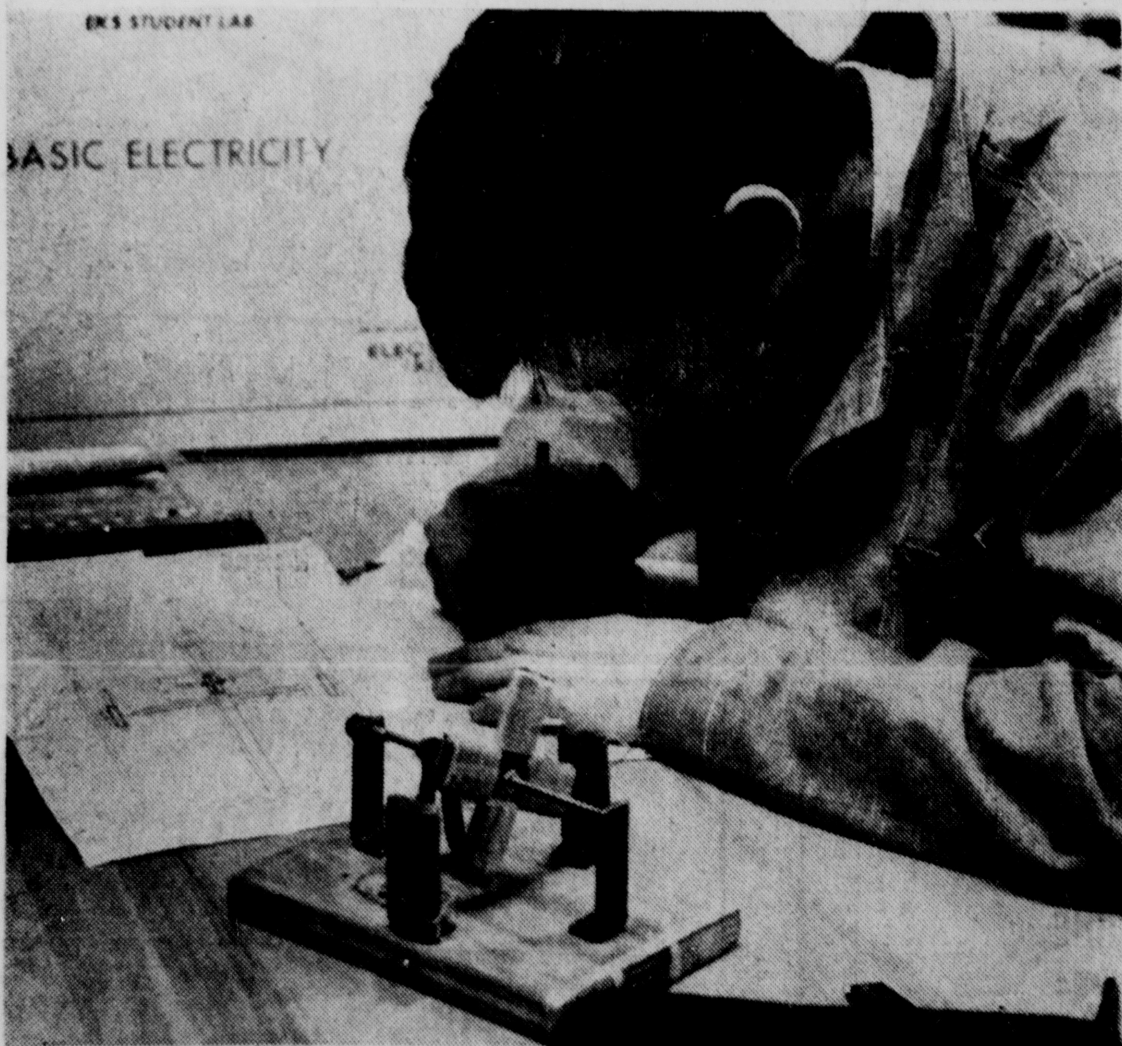

WELDING — Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services centers in Kingston provide a diversity of vocational education classes. Technical courses too are offered at Kingston locations and at the BOCES center in New Paltz. This student is learning the finer points of welding.

MASONRY AND NEEDLE

SKILLS — Ulster County students engaged in the BOCES vocational educational programs have a wide selection of courses suited to their particular career plans. In the construction trades division, top photo, masonry is just one of the skills included in the three year curriculum. Carpentry and building maintenance are offered also. The girls have a variety of courses available in both career and homemaker fields. The young lady at left will find many uses for her training in garment design, both as a potential employee of the needle trades which make up a good share of the local economy and as a fashion creator for her own wardrobe. In addition to the two year course in garment design and manufacture, girls may enroll in courses in child care, domestic service, home care for the ill and aged and home-making. Many of the girls in the needle trades division have an opportunity to work in the industry on a cooperative basis.

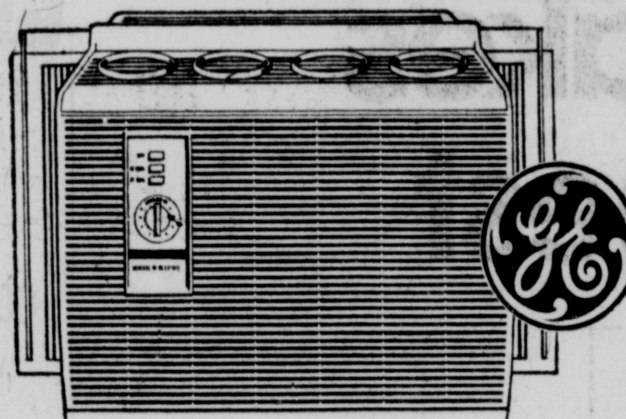

ELECTRONICS STUDY — Student delves deep into the the basics of electricity as he starts on three-year program in the electrical-electronic curriculum of Ulster County BOCES vocational offerings. Included in the study are radio-TV electronics, electrical construction trades and major appliance repair, all vital trades in this electronic age.

Final Plans Set for Dutchess County Fair

RHINEBECK, N.Y. — Final plans have been set for the 124th edition of the Dutchess County Fair at Rhinebeck to be held from Aug. 19-24 at the Fairgrounds.

Each day is titled after its featured attraction and acts have been booked and signed. Tuesday, opening day, is called "Family Day," with children under 16 admitted free from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Something for Everyone
The steadily increasing crowds attending this spectacle with "something for everyone," according to manager S. Richard Lloyd, reached a pinnacle of more than 141,000 last August. New buildings and an ever-increasing complexity of design promise to bring even vaster number in coming years.

Included on opening day, and every day, are the Search for Talent, open to amateur youngsters; T-37 aircraft exhibit; an Antique Aircraft display from the Rhinebeck Aerodrome's Cole Palen; the all-electric model home; horticulture displays; and dancing waters. Also, the free Hall of Health tests will be conducted every day of the fair.

Harness racing will be a highlight Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. in front of the grandstands. Beer Garden will become a reality. The Rhinebeck Legion Band will play and the fair will be honored by a visit from the New York State Dairy Princess.

Thursday will be "Thrill Show Day," highlighted by the Joe Chitwood Thrill Show, motorcycles, and the Hell Drivers in a special paid grandstand show. An English Horse Show will also be held Thursday.

Fashion shows will also be held on several days by Sears-Roebuck of Kingston Plaza Shopping Center. Night fireworks, the Herrick Marionette Shows, and dancing in the Dance Tent will also be regular happenings.

Wednesday, August 20, has been designated "Welcome Neighbor Day." A pony show at 9 a.m. kicks off the festivities, a Polish Band will entertain, and the Bavarian Beer Garden will become a reality. The Rhinebeck Legion Band will play and the fair will be honored by a visit from the New York State Dairy Princess.

Thursday will be "Thrill Show Day," highlighted by the Joe Chitwood Thrill Show, motorcycles, and the Hell Drivers in a special paid grandstand show. An English Horse Show will also be held Thursday.

On Friday, "Jazz Festival Day," the two thrill shows and English Horse Show will again be on the program, but the big event will be an all-name combo performing from 8:30 to 11 p.m. The jazz concert will feature Chris Griffin on trumpet, who has played with Benny Goodman and on the Ed Sullivan show; Sonny Igoo on drums, with Woody Herman and Stan Kenton and now with TV; Milt Hinton on bass, with Louis Armstrong and now with TV; Pee Wee Erwin clarinet, with Goodman and the Dorsey brothers; Sal Pace clarinet, with Spivak and Dorsey; and Mickey Gravine trombone, with Woody Herman, Dorsey, and now on the NBC staff.

Western Horse Show
Saturday has been named "Dutchess County Day." A Western Horse Show in the morning and pony racing at 1 p.m. set the stage for action. A gigantic marching band contest will be held all afternoon, coordinated by the Pacers of Poughkeepsie.

Headliner Frank Sinatra Jr. and band wind up the year's fun and games for the Dutchess County Fair on Sunday. The entertainer will perform from 2:45 to 3:30 p.m. and again from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. on the big stage in front of the grandstand, free of charge.

Sunday is designated "Firemen's Day." Talent Show finals will also be held, winding up the Talent Search. Helicopter rides will be available every day over the fairgrounds.

The original, and still the main purpose of the Rhinebeck Fair is to give agriculture in the county a showplace for fun and land competition.

Judging of breeds will follow this schedule: Tuesday — Holsteins and Guernseys; Wednesday — 4H Sheep, 4H Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, Open Class Holsteins, Open Class Sheep; Thursday — 4H Jerseys, Breeding Angus, Brown Swiss, Open Class Guernseys, Breeding Herefords, 4H Shearing; Friday — Open Class Jerseys and Ayrshires, 4H Steers, 4H Sheep Blocking; Saturday — 4H Dairy Showmanship, Sheep Shearing.

Other judging will be done throughout the week on poultry, fruit, horticulture, vegetables, field crops, grange, and arts and crafts.

The Dutchess County Agriculture Association has also made more than adequate preparation for a "main attraction" for many children and adults alike — an extensive midway.

Red Hook School Problems

One of the Seven Losers Has Suggestion for Board Winner

RED HOOK, N.Y. — G. Carl Pack, one of the seven losers in the recent Red Hook Board of Education election, has a suggestion for the winner, Dr. Carl Stelman.

Pack points out in a letter, "In wishing you my sincere best wishes for an interesting and productive term on the Red Hook Board of Education, I call to your attention one problem among others that need your immediate attention."

"The problem involves the large number of void ballots in the recent elections. School officials have indicated this is the result of an error in reading the voting machine. If this is true, I believe it the responsibility of those involved to make the public better aware of the steps to be followed in casting a valid vote."

Tabulation showed that the budget voting had 135 void votes and the candidate voting had 183 void votes. This was out of a total of 914 votes cast.

Pack said, "Democracy is not best served when there are more void ballots than those received by more than 75 per cent of those individual candidates seeking office. A resolution of this problem will, I believe, indicate that a good look must be taken at the entire election operation."

He called upon other candidates to continue their interest in public education by their attendance at school board meetings and functions. The same sentiment was expressed by Board President Francis Rabbett at High School Commencement Monday evening, when he called for continued school support.

Rabbett pin-pointed the problem with void ballots in a talk with the Freeman. "It is a matter of education," he said, "in voting technique."

"Many of these people, after pushing the levers, think that the next person entering the booth will be able to see how they have voted. So they push the lever back up before leaving the booth, thereby voiding the ballot. They don't realize that when they open the curtain with the handle provided that the lever automatically adjusts itself for the next voter," said the Board President.

Only two candidates carded more than the void 183 ballots, including the winner Dr. Stelman with 271 votes and second place Mrs. Charles Hoffman with 194 votes. The rest were scattered among six other candidates with 118 votes or less.

STROLL ON CAPRI — Group of curious spectators trail Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Onassis — she's the former Jacqueline Kennedy — as they take a stroll on the romantic Mediterranean island of Capri, Italy. The couple arrived on board their yacht "Christina" and then dined with friends, before sailing on to Naples. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

CP Sets $9,000 Goal For Township Drive

KINGSTON

John Hoffer, coordinator for the annual campaign for United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County for operating funds in townships outside the Community Chest, has announced that the drive will be held in July and August. The goal for the campaign will be $9,000.

The townships will be covered by the campaign committee as follows: Raymond Caddy, Lloyd and Marlboro; John Hoffer, Rochester and Warwarsing; Charles Penny, Gardiner; Plattekill and Shawangunk; and Charles Steele, Denning, Har-denburgh, Olive and Shandaken. Mrs. Victor Fox, chairman for the town of Olive, has announced that her drive will begin with a town fair, sponsored by the Olivebridge Explorers 4-H Club. This fair, a community service project for the club, will serve to acquaint the town with the CP Center, via a booth. In July the 22 members of the club will conduct a house to house canvass for CP in the Krumville, Olivebridge, Samsonville, and West Shokan areas.

The 4-H club members participating are Connie Barringer, Norbert Brooklow, Robin Davis, Sean, Brian, and Sue Ellen Doyle; Sharon and Steven Fox;

Laura Hudman; Vicky Kessler; Art Barry and Sister Kocijanski; Cathy Lane; Sue Ellen Miller; Rita and Arnar Norman; Ralph Scheringer; Carolyn Scherrer; and Judy, Jack, and Mary Anne Stahl. The Community Chest provides some of the operating funds for the year for the Center, but the rest must be made up by the outlying townships. Children attend the Center for treatment from these townships, some making the trip three or even five times a week. The CP Center, at 400 Broadway, Kingston is the only qualified agency in the area to treat the physically handicapped.

Curriculum Planned At Red Hook School

RED HOOK

At a recent faculty meeting conducted in St. Christopher's School, Dr. Alice Scipione, reading consultant for the Macmillan Co., spoke to the teachers who will be involved in the new reading program adopted for Grades 1, 2 and 3 this September. Dr. Scipione stressed the importance of allowing each student to progress at his own rate and the teacher's periodic evaluation of any program. Sister Grace Marian will be the reading consultant and adviser to the teachers.

Sister Grace Marian, has also announced the adoption of the New York State Syllabus in Social Studies for Grades one through eight. The specific function of the program is to help children become informed about, and to understand, their own and other cultures. Basic concepts and understandings drawn from anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science and sociology will be highlights of this curriculum.

An art program, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Walsh will be initiated in grades one through four. Mrs. Walsh intends to make use of various media such as painting, handicraft, and decorative design.

The music curriculum will be extended this September. All classes will have music theory twice a week and plans have been formulated for both Christmas and spring concerts.

St. Christopher's welcomes to its faculty Mrs. Henry Rossini, a graduate of Mt. St. Vincent College, Riverdale. Mrs. Rossini, who has taught in the New York school system, will be engaged in the new reading program of the primary grades.

Miss Priscilla Ryan, a graduate of Webster Groves College, St. Louis, Mo., will be teaching in the language arts department of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Miss Ryan, who has majored in speech and the theatre arts, will also be engaged in the development of their skills and talents in the children through the grades.

One of the most important aspects of the forthcoming curriculum is the initiation of a physical education program.

Students in grades one through eight will participate in it. The program involves not only the development of physical coordination through prescribed exercises but also participation in intra-mural games. All necessary equipment will be purchased by the school to achieve the objectives of the program.

Aeromodelers Club Sets Show

KINGSTON

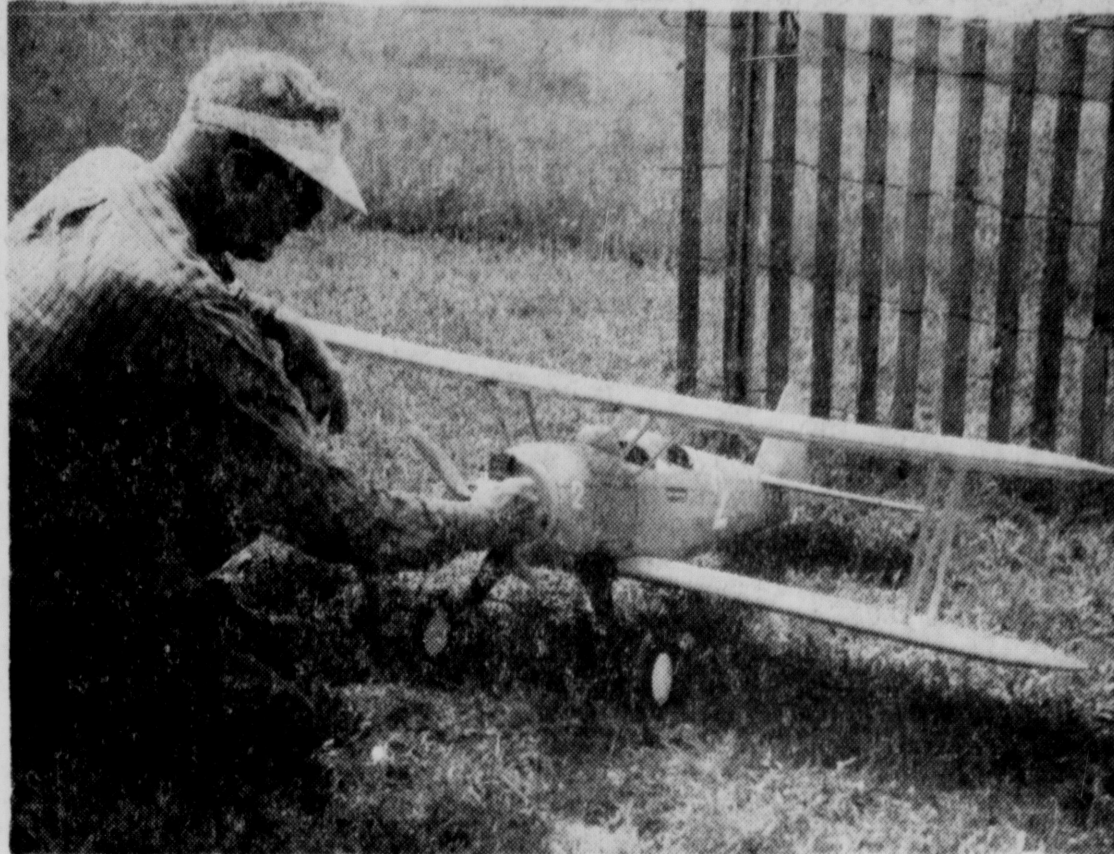

Youngsters with an eye towards the sky will be given a chance to display their airplane model-making talents at the Kingston Plaza on July 19, when the Kingston Aeromodelers Club presents its first annual model contest.

With two categories to enter, youngsters under age 18 will be able to vie for cash prizes as well as trophies. Models of the non-flying type may be entered in the scale model category to be judged on realism and craftsmanship. Models of the flying type will be graded on their flying potential—although they will not be flown at the contest. Flying models may be powered by rubberband or gas engine with U-controls or free flight.

Entry blanks may be deposited at the Toy and Hobby Shop at the Plaza before July 19, the day of the contest.

Judging will be by members of the club, who are not eligible to compete. Youngsters may enter as many craft as they want, says the club.

In addition the entries will be on display from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

READY TO GO — Joe Walbroehl adjusts the motor of his radio controlled PT-17 model plane as he readies the craft for display at the July 19 model aircraft contest of the Kingston Aeromodelers Club at the Kingston Plaza.

Training at Point

The U. S. Military Academy will again conduct military training exercises for cadets this summer on the West Point military reservation. The training period is scheduled to begin 18 June and continue through 22 August.

Noise is inherent in this training which will include field instruction in small arms, artillery armor and airborne warfare. However, all efforts have been made to minimize disturbances and discomfort to residents of surrounding communities by choosing training sites well within the boundaries of the reservation. The bulk of the training will take place at Camp Buckner.

The weapons with which cadets will train include standard military small arms, light anti-tank weapons and the 105mm howitzer. All firing will be directed toward regulated impact areas in the interior of the post. Impact areas are clearly marked and visitors to West Point are cautioned to strictly avoid these areas.

Periodic releases will be made on the training exercises that might be of interest to local residents. When airborne training begins later this summer, a bulletin on helicopter flight times and patterns will be released.

Eligibility For Veterans

Are You Eligible? Eligibility for care in a VA hospital is based on your individual period of active service along certain other factors. Discharge or separation must have been under conditions other than dishonorable. Veterans are admitted under a priority rating system: First, veterans needing care for an injury or disease incurred in or aggravated by military service, and veterans taking vocational rehabilitation who need care to avoid interruption of training.

Second, veterans discharged or retired for a disability, or those receiving VA compensation, needing hospitalization for a condition not service connected. And, third, veterans of war time service, post-Korean or Vietnam era service who have no service-connected ailments, are admitted if (1) hospitalization is necessary, (2) the veteran certifies of his inability to pay for care at a private hospital, and (3) a bed is available.

Emergency VA Hospitalization: The eligible veteran, doctor, or someone acting on behalf of the veteran should call the VA hospital before going. This is necessary in order that proper arrangements for admission may be made ready.

By: Charles Culver, State Veterans Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John Tyler, Director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, County office Building, Office Hours: Mon. thru Fri., 9-5.

Hudson Plant Hit

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike of some 1,000 members of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers entered their third day Tuesday at six plants of the Universal Atlas Cement Co.

The walkout, which began at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, closed down plants at Hudson, N.Y., Hannibal, Mo., Independence, Kan., Leeds, Ala., Northampton, Pa., and Waco, Tex.

A spokesman for Universal Atlas, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel Corp., said operations were not affected at six other Universal plants. He said the 1,000 workers at these plants belong to a different union, the United Steel Workers of America.

The dispute concerns wages and working conditions.

Union officials declined comment on the strike.

Benedictine Offers 'People' 30 Beds

KINGSTON An offer of 30 beds for members of the "Up With People" cast of 160 which is coming to perform in Kingston this weekend, has been made by Benedictine Hospital which has suggested use of its residence home for sleeping accommodations, according to announcement made today by Sister Mary Charles, OSB, hospital administrator.

Originally the modern residence was the Benedictine School of Nursing. It has large, newly-furnished rooms with bath and shower facilities and is in close proximity to Kingston High School auditorium where the group will perform Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. It is presently used, in part, as a residence for the elderly.

"The offer is most generous," commented Dr. Jeremiah Sachs of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, which is aiding in securing spare beds for cast members. Late yesterday 95 beds were needed. With Benedictine's offer, the number is reduced to 65.

Dr. Sachs, who previewed the performance of "Up With People" on film Tuesday, described it as "most excellent."

The cast will arrive in Kingston late Thursday afternoon, fully equipped with 13 tons of sound, lighting and stage equipment. Living quarters are needed for the men and women entertainers Thursday through Sunday.

Hearing of the need, the Benedictine Hospital board members, meeting Tuesday afternoon, concurred with Sister Mary Charles' suggestion, offering the residence facility and made the offer the same day.

Cast members, who are not paid individually for their performances, rely on the hospitality of the communities they visit to cover travel and education expenses.

The cast recently returned from Italy where it was received by enthusiastic audiences in every part of the country.

Area residents, who have spare beds available and who are willing to house the youthful travelers are asked to contact "Up With People" representatives at the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, Gov. Clinton Hotel before Thursday night.

Tickets for the three weekend performances may be purchased at Abrams Music Store, 299 Wall Street, Rafalowsky's Clothing Store, 71 Albany Avenue and Kingston Music Center, 658 Albany Avenue Extension. They may also be secured at the door the night of the performance.

New Position For Otepka, Ousted in '63

WASHINGTON (AP) — Otto F. Otepka, ousted in 1963 as chief security evaluator for the State Department, has won the Senate's approval for a higher-ranking job.

After relatively brief discussion, the Senate voted 61-28 Tuesday to confirm President Nixon's nomination of Otepka as a $36,000-a-year member of the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Supporters hailed the outcome as a vindication of Otepka, who was ordered dismissed from the State Department on grounds he provided the Senate internal security subcommittee with confidential documents without authorization. In 1967, the dismissal order was changed to demotion, transfer and reprimand.

Pleads Guilty

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—York McGavin, 18, son of actor Darren McGavin pleaded guilty Tuesday to possessing LSD for sale and will be sentenced July 18.

A co-defendant, Scott Weaver, 19, pleaded guilty to a similar charge and will be sentenced at the same time. They were arrested in a Glendale, Calif., parking lot last Feb. 19 after two undercover agents bought 8,213 LSD tablets from them with a market value of $10,000.

Ellenville Meeting

Clerks Hear Tofany

ELLENVILLE The job salaries competitive. Under the new fee schedule, county clerks will retain 30 cents of each licensing fee, a ten-cent increase; 75 cents of each original registration fee, a 25-cent increase; and $1.20 of each re-registration fee, a 20 cent increase.

Commissioner Tofany said these changes would enable the participating counties to retain and additional $830,000 in motor vehicle fees each year.

More efficient processing of driver licensing and motor vehicle registration by county clerk employees was forecast here Tuesday by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany.

He said new legislation increasing the counties' share of present motor vehicle fees, effective Oct. 1, should provide any funds needed for hiring additional personnel to handle these transactions.

The increase in county retention fees is part of a Vehicle and Traffic Law amendment which also authorizes the Commissioner to prescribe minimum staffing requirements in those 56 county clerk offices which handle motor vehicle transactions.

Commissioner Tofany said the staffing schedule now being developed would provide each participating county clerk's office with the minimum number of qualified personnel needed to handle the annual number of motor vehicle functions in that office.

In remarks at an Ellenville meeting of the County Clerks Association, he said the increased county revenue provided by the revised distribution of fees should enable the county legislatures to make the job salaries competitive. Under the new fee schedule, county clerks will retain 30 cents of each licensing fee, a ten-cent increase; 75 cents of each original registration fee, a 25-cent increase; and $1.20 of each re-registration fee, a 20 cent increase.

Commissioner Tofany said these changes would enable the participating counties to retain and additional $830,000 in motor vehicle fees each year.

More efficient processing of driver licensing and motor vehicle registration by county clerk employees was forecast here Tuesday by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany.

He said new legislation increasing the counties' share of present motor vehicle fees, effective Oct. 1, should provide any funds needed for hiring additional personnel to handle these transactions.

The increase in county retention fees is part of a Vehicle and Traffic Law amendment which also authorizes the Commissioner to prescribe minimum staffing requirements in those 56 county clerk offices which handle motor vehicle transactions.

Commissioner Tofany said the staffing schedule now being developed would provide each participating county clerk's office with the minimum number of qualified personnel needed to handle the annual number of motor vehicle functions in that office.

In remarks at an Ellenville meeting of the County Clerks Association, he said the increased county revenue provided by the revised distribution of fees should enable the county legislatures to make

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:

I've just had what I think is a terrific idea:

You know how so many grocery stores give dishes away with certain amounts purchased? Or with designated amounts bought, you can buy pieces to make up place settings at a great discount?

Well, I was thinking about how many people live alone and how nice it would be to give them one complete place setting of dishes. Think what a lift it would be, especially for the elderly.

So often we find it very difficult to decide on gifts for them.

You don't have to wait for a special occasion, just make it a "thinking-of-you gift." That's the best kind anyway!

Mrs. J.H.

I think that's just about the greatest idea in many a moon.

Wish I had thought of it myself. Thanks a bunch!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Letter of Thought

In order to stay afloat financially, we housewives will have to use that old saying, "Eat it up; Wear it out; Make it do; or Do without."

Mrs. Glen Thornton

Dear Heloise:

I had my husband cut down an old table to about twenty inches high.

Then I repainted it and covered the top with pictures from magazines. Mostly pictures of trains, tractors, planes, boats, and toys of all kinds. All pictures that would interest a two-year-old boy.

I covered the table with shellac and, believe you me, it's just adorable.

Our grandson is really enjoying the table — not only for his play area, but is fascinated with the pictures.

I would not recommend using catalog pictures because some of the colors in them tend to run when the shellac is put on. The magazine pictures don't.

Mrs. M. Marshall

Dear Heloise:

My husband doesn't drink coffee in the morning. Since I don't like to make a whole pot just for myself, this is what I do:

I take a small funnel, one which has a small enough bottom to place in my coffee mug. Then I put a facial tissue inside the funnel to act as a filter and put in enough regular drip grind coffee to make one cup.

I pour boiling water over the coffee and let it seep through the tissue until I have enough for the cup.

Delicious! But, unless you want perfumed coffee, don't use scented tissue.

A Fan

What an ol' smartie! How about funneling me up a cup? Sounds great.

KINGSTON JAYNEE INSTALLATION — The newly chartered Kingston Jaynees held their installation banquet Saturday, June 21, at Oehler's Mountain Lodge. Mrs. William Garvey (L) newly elected president, is pictured here accepting the gavel from the local organization's outgoing president, Mrs. Joseph Vartanians. Other officers include Mrs. Roy Hochberg, first vice president; Mrs. Victor Locke, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Rydstrom, secretary; and Mrs. Patrick Jordan, treasurer. Mrs. John Lawrence, District 2 Division 2 president, installed the new officers. Approximately 50 persons attended the banquet. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Garden Society Picnic

The annual picnic of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens was held recently on the lawn of the Esopus Creekside home of Mrs. August Fellows of Esopus Drive.

Club members brought their favorite covered dishes, with a resultant full course luncheon of taste-tempting dishes, no two of which were alike.

A short business meeting conducted by club president, Mrs. Frank Greco, took place after. Civic beautification committee chairman, Mrs. Brendan Dooley, reported on the progress of re-planting the flower bed at the Main Street School, and assignments were made for care of the Partition Street Park for the current season.

An interesting and constructive evaluation of the recent flower show, as assessed by the show judges, was conducted by Mrs. Earl Moore and Mrs. Gordon Keeley.

Appointed to the nominating committee for the fall election of officers were Mrs. Frank Lawless, Mrs. Brendan Dooley and Mrs. Gordon Keeley.

The program committee for the coming year was also named, consisting of Mrs. William Waldele, chairman; Mrs. Frank Lawless, Mrs. William Cowley, Mrs. George Jorgensen, Mrs. Donald Beckett and Mrs. Daniel Lamb.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Michael Mattia, Saugerties-Kingston Road, on Wednesday, Sept. 10, with "Fun and Frolic" listed for the program.

The committee in charge of the picnic included Mrs. Donald Beckett, Mrs. Frank Lawless, Mrs. George Jorgensen and Mrs. Earl Moore.

Two Are Honored By Brigham School

A teacher and a custodian were guests of honor at a banquet Thursday, June 5 at The Hedges, West Park. They were retiring from their positions at the Elisha M. Brigham Elementary School.

The teacher, Miss Gladys E. Haines of 234 Smith Avenue Kingston, has been on the faculty of Kingston Schools Consolidated for 32 years. She spent the past 12 years at the Brigham School.

The custodian, Frederick P. Paulus of 81 Wrentham Street, served the Kingston School System for 45 years, 43 of which were at Brigham.

Mrs. Dorothy Raichle was chairman of the dinner and William R. Reardon, principal at Brigham, served as master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Both Miss Haines and Mr. Paulus received gifts from their co-workers.

Thomas in NY-Penn Debut

BATAVIA down in order. Batavia, in the gers' scout "Rabbit" Jacobson on the recommendation of Batavia Manager Bob Distel.

Distel had only seen Thomas pitch once, a 20-minute workout, arranged by Ulster County Community College Coach Al DiBernardo. He then contacted the front office recommending that the Tigers sign the Kingston lad.

Thomas had been assigned to the Batavia club earlier this week after a two-week instruction period at Lakeland, Fla. He had been signed by the Ti-

Lasher Stars For Tschopp's

ELLENVILLE

Bob Lasher fired a two-hitter and struck out five batters as Tschopp's came up with nine runs in the first inning to defeat A.P.A., 11-0, in the Ellenville Fast Pitch League game Tuesday night. Tschopp's has a 7-0 record for first place in the League.

Al McPhillips was the losing hurler in the five inning tilt called on the 10-run rule. The rule says that the team ahead by 10 runs at the end of five, wins the game.

In the nine-run first, Vic Martinez and Tony Zivostski slugged two-run homers, while Dan Duff added a solo shot, also in the opening stanza.

Charlie Holmes and Julie Julian accounted for the winners' other two markers. McPhillips and Rich Scotto had the only two hits, both singles, for the losers.

Lasher's record now stands at 2-0, while McPhillips is 0-3. A.P.A. is in last place with an 0-6 mark.

Rain Stymies Braves; Ions Here on Friday

KINGSTON

Intermittent showers and sloppy playing conditions forced the cancelling of the Kingston Braves - Poughkeepsie Lasers Mid-Hudson Rookie League encounter Tuesday night at Dietz Stadium. It was the third rain-out for the Braves in the first round of play.

The other rainouts were a home game with the Newburgh Atoms and an away game with Beacon. The games will be rescheduled at a later date.

The Braves have two games left in the first round, both of them at Dietz. Friday night, 8 o'clock the Wappingers Ions come to town, with the Cornwall Missiles coming in on Saturday. Game time is 8 p. m.

Ray Zappone was scheduled to take the hill against the Lasers and will probably go against the Ions Friday. Rapid Ray defeated Wappingers in his first start as a member of the Braves. His mound opponent will probably be Ed Bonnett, Wappingers High School star and last year's slugging average leader for the Ions.

Saturday, Charlie Moore will probably go against the Missiles.

HOME SAFE — New York Mets' outfielder Art Shamsky slides into home safe on a base hit by Wayne Garrett in the 4th inning of the second game between the Mets and Phillies. Umpire Ed Sudol gets some help from Mets' J. C. Martin in making the call. Mets won both games, 2-1 and 5-0. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

TIANO'S TOPICS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The 1969 Herdegen Memorial golf tournament once again proved what the fairway fraternity has known for a long time. Wiltwyck Country Club is the capital of competitive golf in the area, perhaps the whole lower Hudson valley.

Twelve of the 14 players who made the prize list and automatically qualified for the 1970 renewal are Wiltwyck members. Without even checking the calibre of players in the top echelons at other area clubs, we'll go out on a limb and say the top 10 Wiltwyck finishers in the Herdegen would be a match for any other 10 players in the mid-Hudson area on a club basis. Probably whip them.

NEWLY CROWNED champion Harvey Bostic leads the list at the moment and then you have Bill Kaufman, Leon Randall, Dave Blakely, Brian Smith, George Cosenza, Bill Van Aken, Joe Bostic and Harold Van Aken. The Wiltwyck supremacy is based on a solid foundation — a well integrated junior program that lowers above its peers in this part of the country. No other club concentrates on teaching and encouraging its youngsters like Wiltwyck and Scotty Robertson, the home pro, deserves a measure of credit for instilling that spirit in the kids.

BOTH COURSES — Woodstock and Wiltwyck were beautifully groomed for the championship test. Wiltwyck, sodden with rain, played especially long off the tiger tees and the 36-player field averaged 83.30, par 11.3 per man over par 72. The average at Woodstock was 79.80 on a par 70 layout.

With Twaalfskill's No. 3 out of contention, the toughest hole predictably was Wiltwyck's 9th where only four players picked up par 4's — Bill Van Aken, Don Arthur, Charlie Brown and Form Conghlin. The average for the field on this treacherous dog-leg was 5.72.

WERNER KOLLN and Joe Bostic met the challenge at Wiltwyck, but other high school aces found it tough. But Scotty Dean of Ontario and Woodstock rebounded from an 85 to shoot 75 at Woodstock and missed qualifying for next year by one stroke. John Buoymaster was in at 162. Ted Decker, the Rondout Valley youth who led the qualifier, had a weekend of woes—90-79-169. . . . Charlie Brown couldn't quite come up to the heroics of his TV counterpart but he managed to eagle the par-four 7th at Woodstock with an 80-yard wedge shot. . . . Pros Jim Hutchins (Woodstock), Scotty Robertson (Wiltwyck) and Alex Gerlak (Twaalfskill) did a superb job in grooming the courses for the tournament. The Herdegen committee is again indebted to Twaalfskill, Wiltwyck and Woodstock for use of their facilities.

KUDOS to Jim Massa of our sports staff for his assistance, particularly in the statistical department. Also our thanks to Pat Sullivan and Peg Sharpe of Woodstock for helping patrol the trouble spots at Woodstock (oh, no, not the hippies!). . . . This was the last of the 36-hole Herdegens. Next year, we return to the standard format of 72 holes with a 36-hole qualifier.

TOURNAMENT RECORDS were unchanged this time around. The tournament 18-hole record of 63, shared by George Hughes and Ricky Barthel remained aloft. So did the remarkable 275 posted by Bill Van Aken on rounds of 67, 68, 74 and 66 in 1958. It was a bad year for George Hughes, the Sweet Swinger from Twaalfskill, who soared to his highest score ever — 168. The Big Four thoroughly dominate the win column. Randall has 7 titles, Hughes 4, Van Aken 3 and Bostic 2. The tournament averaged about 4½ hours a round, below the target of 4 hours. There is still too much dawdling between nines, a factor which will be studied closely next season.

IT COMES AS NO surprise, of course, that Leon Randall is the all-time lowest average shooter in the 19-year history of the Herdegen tournament. It figures what with seven wins and a tie and several runnersup slots.

The Blond Bomber, has scrapped his traditional crewcut for conventional long hair, has averaged a remarkable 72.43 strokes for 58 rounds in 16 tournaments.

Runnerup is George Hughes, only player to compete in all 19 Herdegens, with 73.97 mark despite his 86. Harvey Bostic has averaged 74.52 in 55 rounds; Bill Van Aken, 74.90 in 61 rounds and Alvin Boice, 76.36 in 65 rounds.

HARVEY BOSTIC likes his new mod haircut and side burns. "It helps my game," he said. Leon Randall deserted his crewcut for long hair. "It's ruining my game," he quipped. "I'm going back to the crewcut." To each his own, we say.

It Was Brawltime In Old Baltimore

(By The Associated Press)

The Orioles' sweet sixteen party was in full swing in Baltimore and Bill Melton had a ball in Seattle, but Ken Harrelson's homecoming turned sour in Boston.

These were the highlights of Tuesday's action in the American League, which ended with the Orioles opening a 10-game bulge over Boston in the East while Minnesota vaulted back into first place by one-half game over Oakland in the West.

Frank Robinson, Paul Blair and Boog Powell each hit his 16th home run in Baltimore's 6-3 11-inning triumph over Washington. Robinson hit a disputed shot with two on in the 11th to win it while Blair socked two solo homers and Powell one.

Melton, third baseman for the Chicago White Sox, homered with the bases empty his first three times up in the second game as the Sox swept a twin-nighter from Seattle 6-4, 7-6.

Harrelson, the high-flying "Hawk" who retired for several days after the Red Sox traded him to Cleveland in April, made his long-awaited return to Boston's Fenway Park but went hitless in six at-bats as the Indians split a day-night doubleheader, winning 6-3, then losing 6-1.

Elsewhere, Minnesota edged California 5-3, Kansas City nipped Oakland 6-5 and Detroit tripped the New York Yankees 2-1.

The Baltimore-Washington contest ended in a wild argument, with the Senators claiming Robinson's homer was foul. Third base umpire Hank Soar first raised both hands, the foul sign, then pointed to fair territory.

Soar, who had his hands full with the Yankees over the weekend, said he was blinded momentarily by light reflecting off the glass front of the football press box alongside the foul pole in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

"I couldn't find the ball and didn't give any signal at first because the ball got into the lights," he said. "But then it struck at the bottom of the stands. I've never seen so much hollering and screaming, throwing bats and such. They (the Senators) were like a bunch of wild Indians."

Shortstop Eddie Brinkman of the Senators said the ball was "foul, definitely foul, a yard or two past the pole. It was a choke call. None of them have a gut in their body. They're all homers."

But Powell, who was in the on-deck circle, said he was "standing looking right at it. I saw it good and it went around the right side of the pole—fair."

Blair and Powell homered in the first inning and Blair connected again in the third for a 3-0 lead. But the Senators battled back on Jim French's two-run homer in the fifth and tied it in Mike Epstein's RBI single an inning later.

Despite Melton's cannonading, the White Sox needed Ed Herrmann's tie-breaking homer with two out in the ninth to double dip the Pilots.

Melton connected in the sixth and fourth innings against Fred Talbot and in the sixth off John O'Donoghue. But with a chance to become only the third player in modern major league history to hit four consecutive homers in a game, he struck out against O'Donoghue in the seventh. Then he doubled in the ninth against Diego Segui following Herrmann's homer.

Carlos May also homered for Chicago and Wayne Comer drilled a two-run shot for Seattle.

The Pilots gave away the opener, handing the Sox two tie-breaking runs in the eighth on a hit batsman and errors by shortstop John Kennedy and pitcher Bob Locker.

Denny McLain stopped the Yankees on seven hits for his 11th victory. Al Kaline and Willie Horton provided the power with first-inning homers after two were out off loser Mike Kekich. It was the 10th for each. Joe Pepitone hit his 18th in the sixth for the New York run.

Gonzales Still a Terror

WIMBLEDON, England

(UPI)—A bronzed, 41-year-old Californian with greying hair and a broad-shouldered 25-year-old Puerto Rican stepped onto Wimbledon's center court Tuesday for an opening round match.

An hour and 45 minutes later they had played 45 games of sensational tennis—neither man able to break the other's service.

Pancho Gonzalez, the veteran pro from Los Angeles, had fought back from 11 set points and the crowd at Wimbledon's center court cheered every point of the way. But he was visibly tiring and missed easy shots.

In the 46th game, Pasarell forced him into dribbling one shot into the net and finally lobbed a soft shot over Gonzalez' head which the veteran could not get back to in time.

Gonzalez asked the umpire to call the match until Wednesday because of the growing darkness. However, Wimbledon's referee, Mike Gibson, told the players to continue and Gonzalez did not attempt to disguise his anger.

When one shot hit his feet in the second set he called out.

"How can I see in this light?" At one court change, he asked some fans at court side whether they thought there was light enough to continue. They clapped their agreement.

Gonzalez held only one serve in the second set and the umpire called the match for the day with Pasarell leading 24-22, 6-1.

When Gonzalez walked off the court, a chorus of boos was mixed with the applause.

Both Gonzalez and Pasarell played superb tennis in the first set. There were some tremendous volleys and few errors until the final few games.

Gonzalez and Pasarell will finish the match when play begins today. Theirs was one of six matches to be discontinued Tuesday because of darkness to be finished today before the ladies singles matches begin.

Their 24-22 set matched the Wimbledon record. Italian star Nicola Pietrangeli and Yugoslavia's Nicola Pilic fought to similar 24-22 set in 1963. Pilic won that long set but lost the match.

Rod Laver of Australia, the defending champion, easily won over Pietrangeli in straight sets of 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

DENNIS RALSTON, America's leading professional from Bakersfield, Calif., dashes cross court to make forehand return to his Indian opponent Jaidup Mukerjee during first round action, men's singles, of the Wimbledon tennis championships. Ralston won in straight sets, 6-2, 8-6, 7-5. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

Monticello Race Won by Hicky Hill

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Ricky Hill, a five-year-old horse driven by Russ Mackinnon, came from far behind Tuesday night at Monticello Raceway to win the featured fourth race in a driving finish that put him under the wire in 2:07.2.

The son of Knight Time-Belle Hill by Rodney did not appear to be in contention until halfway through the paddock turn when he brushed ahead to pass the previous leaders to take first by a neck.

Ricky Hill beat out Senator's Girl, Richard Yakin the driver, who had set the course but who wound up third. Coming in

Namath at Monticello

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Star quarterback of the New York Jets, Namath will be the guest of honor at Monticello Raceway tonight.

Proceeds of Namath's visit go to St. Albert's Junior Seminary of Middletown.

The New York Jets quarterback — and to millions that what he is, despite his resignation — is paying his first visit to the Sullivan County track to benefit Saint Albert's Junior Seminary of Middletown.

In doing so, Namath is keeping a promise, made when he was hospitalized following knee surgery, to Father Edward Murphy, O. Carm., treasurer of St. Albert's. Namath will also pose for photographs and will sign autographs tomorrow night while at Monticello. He'll be flown to the track from Manhattan in a helicopter.

The star footballer will be honored by the evening's feature race, a one mile dash for two year old pacers. He will be available for autographs and as a result of his visit to Monticello Raceway, children who are accompanied by a parent will be admitted for the evening's card.

In the Namath pace for two year olds, General Dayan, a famous name himself, is expected to be the horse to beat.

Breezy Comedy Hit Opens Here

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
It is witty, amusing and lighthearted. This is the sum total of M. Edgar Rosenblum's second offering of the 1969 summer season at Woodstock Playhouse. The theatrical treat is the London and New York smash comedy hit "There's a Girl in My Soup." It stars the very talented George Gatto as an aging gourmet and TV personality; Barbara Houston, as a very tempting young "bird," and William Metz, a typical "ball and chain" product of our modern age. The Terence Frisby play benefits tremendously from Gatto's talents. Last seen at the Woodstock Playhouse as General Burgoyne in Shaw's "Devil's Disciple," Gatto takes on the role of a middle-aged gourmet of food and women with professional stride. He maintains that needed breezy quality which puts this type of production over. Gatto comes back to this area after a directing task in Dallas, Texas. He is a welcome addition to the Woodstock summer boards.

Routine Check Leads Police To Escapee

WYNANTSKILL, N.Y. (AP)—State police say they stopped a car for a routine check on Route 66 in this hamlet north of Rensselaer early this morning and came up with an escapee from a Florida jail.

Troopers from the Brunswick substation said the person who identified himself as Donald A. Myers, 18, of nearby Poestenkill, turned out to be the same Myers who escaped from the Collier County Jail in Naples, Fla., with three others on March 22.

They said they had received information from Naples police that Myers was believed to be in the area. When the driver of the auto gave the same name as the escapee, troopers checked further into his identity.

Myers was arraigned on fugitive from justice charges after his arrest at 2 a.m. and sent to the Rensselaer County Jail. No bail was set.

State police said he had been awaiting trial in Florida on burglary and larceny charges when he escaped.

They gave his Florida address as 2780 Glenwood Ave., Naples.

At IDEA Program

Dr. W. Wendall Hoover, superintendent of Kingston City Schools Consolidated has been selected to participate in the fourth annual IDEA Fellows Program for School Administrators. He will attend a one-week session, dealing with the mounting problem of student activism and curriculum relevancy, to be held at Rockford College, Rockford, Ill.

Each year the Institute for Development of Educational Activities, Inc., selects 400 throughout the United States to participate in these professional workshops, which are scheduled at four separate locations in the country. The participants are chosen from among thousands of applications submitted each year.

Opening his fourth summer at Woodstock Playhouse in the current production as a very much married man is William Metz. A long list of acting credentials emphasizes his theatrical prowess. Metz appeared off-Broadway this year in "Papers" by Hans Reusch. He also appeared at Ford's Theatre in Washington, D. C. for Circle-in-the-Square's "Moon for the Misbegotten." Previous credits include both seasons of the Hudson Valley Repertory, during which time he played James Tyrone Jr. in "Long Day's Journey Into Night." Metz is a decided asset at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Also featured in this lively comedy which offers unflinching comments on a certain type of society, are Mary Ellen Ray, Philip Gushee, Teddy Cantline and Ned Leavitt. In this production, Barbara Houston is costumed in the wild mini-prints created by Woodstock designer Cindy Whittaker. The sets, designed by Harry Moss, are dressed up with shining pots and pans, brilliant enamel ware and utensils from the Gilded Carriage's Country Kitchen.

Directed by Harold G. Baldridge, the play was a benefit for the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society. Most of the members of the Philharmonic family were in attendance including the new Ulster County Chapter President Norman Rafalowsky. Other Philharmonic "first nighters" included past president Mrs. Amos Newcombe, the Rev. David Bronson and Dr. Richard Messina. It was a melding of lively arts between audience and performers.

"Cactus Flower" is the next offering by Woodstock Playhouse. It will open on July 1 and play through the 6th. The script revolves around the peccadilloes of Dr. Julian Winston, who is a sexy dentist. He comes up with an idea. He tells his girl friend, Toni, that is already married and then has the best of all possible worlds going for him until Toni, despondent over her position as "the other woman," attempts suicide. She is rescued, of course, but not by Julian. Her deliveries called Igor and he lives right next door to her. The plot thickens at this point and Julian's tidy set-up starts to fall apart.

There's another woman in Julian's life, his receptionist, which makes the entire production very interesting. George Gatto will play the lead womanizer while Mary Ellen Ray will take on the role of Stephanie, the part created on Broadway by Lauren Bacall. Others in the cast will be Barbara Houston as Toni; Ned Leavitt as Igor; William Metz as Senor Sanchez; Phil Gushee and Janey Day. Director will be Harold Baldridge again with Harry Moss as design and C. Mark Markley as lighting designer.

"There's a Girl in My Soup," continues on stage now through June 29.

BARBARA HOUSTON, who plays a pert mod thing called Marion in "Girl in My Soup" now at the Woodstock Playhouse. In the play, Marion settles in comfortably to share a gourmet's bed and board only to return later on to her former boy friend Jimmy, a mod, mod type of muscle and brawn.

Dear Abby

'Old Dog' Knows Trick

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a professional man who has started to work late about two or three nights a week. On these nights he takes his secretary out for dinner. Perhaps I should mention that they dine at a cocktail lounge where there's dancing, and he has been seen dancing with her. (How about a 52-year-old man having the strength to dance after putting in a 10-hour day?)

Perhaps I am overly suspicious because I married this divorced man as a result of having worked "overtime" for him, and I am well aware that you can't teach an old dog new tricks. Any ideas?

EX-SECRETARY
DEAR EX: Yes. Tell him of your suspicions. He might interpret your silence as ignorance, indifference or approval. This old dog doesn't need to learn any new tricks as long as the old ones work.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the NINTH GRADE, and our English teacher announced that if our term papers were not typed they would not be accepted! Abby, how many ninth graders do you think know how to type? In our class only 5 out of 30 do.

Our teacher said if we couldn't type them ourselves we could have them for us. And a friend type them for us. And if that wasn't possible, we could hire a professional typist to do it. Well, I inquired, and around here it costs anywhere from $1.25 to $1.50 a page for a professional typing job, and my term paper is 15 pages long, and I certainly can't afford that.

I can sympathize with the teacher, and I'm sure it's a lot easier on her if all the term papers are typed, but as long as they're written neatly and are legible, I think they should be acceptable. What do you think?

NO MILLIONAIRE
DEAR NO: Your teacher is going to hate me, but I think you're right.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know of any legitimate tax loopholes for bachelors?

TAX POOR

DEAR TAX POOR: Only one. A wedding ring.

DEAR ABBY: What do you mean telling that woman who complained because she had to iron seven pair of undershorts every week that it was "nothing"? It's easy to see that you don't do your own ironing. If she had asked me, I'd have told her to buy her husband some shorts that don't need ironing. There are lots of underwear fabrics on the market that you can throw in the machine and they tumble dry and look like new. And if her husband STILL insisted on the old-fashioned kind that have to be ironed, I'd iron 'em all right for all occasions.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a.m. WKNY-1490)

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIRGO: Your boyfriend seems to be troubled with "bone" trouble. Too much in the head and not enough in the spine.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters — with plenty of STARCH. Sign me."

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

TWICE WOUNDED: (Q.) I was in Vietnam three months but was wounded and sent home. When I got back I found out my girl friend had another boy friend. We had been going together for nearly two years. I had heard she was running around, but the news of the new boy friend cut me like a knife.

She claims she loves both of us and doesn't know what to do. I love her very much and can't put her out of my mind. Can you tell me what to do?—K. in Florida.

(A.) First drop your all-or-nothing attitude toward this girl. Go out with another girl, or girls. Doing this may draw your straying friend closer to you or it may not. It may help you forget her altogether. I believe that's the real answer.

NO VISITORS: (Q.) This boy I'm going with had an operation and the doctor won't let him see anybody but his family.

I love him a lot and want to see him. It doesn't look like we're going to be able to date for awhile. All I do now is sit home. But I do not plan to go out on him. Please tell me what to do.—P.R. in Houston.

(A.) When a doctor says "no visitors" after an operation, it is usually for a very short time—only a few days. The doctor knows a patient needs visitors. They help him get well faster.

While you're waiting, write your boy friend a note every day—twice a day if it will make you feel better.

Soon you can visit him at the hospital and then at his home. Plan on little gifts to take him and things to talk about. It will be as much fun as going out on a date.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Vassar Gal and Death Valley

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Most created it—Ruth Woodman, a petite, New York-born graduate of Vassar and descendant of television's "Death Valley Days" has centered on a more successful host—Ronald Reagan, the late Robert Taylor and now, Dale Robertson. But the syndicated series is a gold mine of broadcasting lore and colorful Western stories. Perhaps the most amazing single fact about the show is that it soon will mark its 40th year—repeat, 40th year—on the air, first in radio, then television. No other broadcast Western, not even "Gunsmoke," comes even close. I doubt, though, that anything or anyone connected with "Death Valley Days" has been as colorful as the lady who proper New England lady. "Mother said, 'Thank you. Well, we were riding along Mr. Scott,' and took a slug. She in a car one day when along never would have called him came a car from the opposite Scottie. Then he asked her, direction. When it got close enough, everyone recognized it as the car of Death Valley Scottie. He was a real character. A machine gun was mounted on the front of the car. He wore his usual red tie and white 10-gallon hat. He and said, 'Mother, you're all come over to us with a bottle of whiskey, looked at my mother and said, 'Well, mother, you're the oldest. You have the first story of them all has been that of Ruth Woodman, ex-Vassar.

This series of plays left him with eight tricks in and two good trumps in dummy for tricks nine and 10. Note that if South did not time the play this way he would wind up in his own hand with no way to get to dummy to lead the last diamond. He would have to let the defenders in with a heart and a second spade lead would hold him to nine tricks.

If any reader thinks that North got a lot of mileage out of his queen and two jacks, we can't argue with him. The only thing we can say of the bid is that it worked. West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to a trump at trick two out the shift came too late. Once that diamond had been led there was no way to keep South from taking 10 tricks. Of course, there were lots of ways for South to make only nine tricks. It was up to him to plan carefully before playing from dummy. He didn't have to be too careful, just careful enough to play one of dummy's high spades so that he could hold the tricks there. He needed eight trump tricks to give him a total of 10 and the only way to collect 10 tricks would be to ruff dummy's last three diamonds in his own hand. He did this by ruffing a diamond in his own hand, cashing his ace and king of clubs and then crossruffing clubs and

An open mouth is quite often the exit for a closed mind.

If you don't get the big concept, perhaps you've been too busy putting together the details that make the big concept possible.

One great aid to reducing is to be on a fixed salary.

Seconal Overdose, Is Ruling on Judy

LONDON (UPI)—Judy Garland died of an "incautious self-overdose of the sleeping drug Seconal," a London coroner ruled today.

Gavin Thurston, who acts as coroner for the Westminster district, announced his decision following a brief inquest into the death of Miss Garland, 47.

The main witness at the hearing was the singer-actress's fifth husband, Mickey Deans, who found her body Sunday on the bathroom floor of their home at 4 Cadogan Lane in the Westminster district.

Thurston said an autopsy on her body showed that Miss Garland had been addicted to sleeping pills for years.

"She took more Seconal than her body could tolerate," Thurston told a courtroom packed with newsmen and fans of the dead singer in describing the cause of death.

"Whether she did this in a daze from previous doses is unclear. But one thing is certain—there is absolutely no evidence this was intentional," he said.

Among the witnesses was pathologist Dr. R. E. K. Pocock who testified he found 4.9 milligrams of Seconal in Miss Garland's blood, "an extremely high level" that would normally kill almost instantly if taken in that quantity at one time.

But Pocock emphasized he found no inflammation of the stomach and no trace of barbiturates in the stomach, a medical fact showing the Seconal had been absorbed over a considerable period rather than taken in a massive dose.

Dr. John Traherne, Miss Garland's London doctor, testified: "I don't think Miss Garland would have been able to sleep without Seconal." He testified she had been "habitually using" the sleeping drug "for many years."

This testimony was confirmed by Deans, a theatrical agent, appearing under his real name of Michael de Vinko. Deans, 35, testified he found his wife of three months in the locked bathroom about 10:40 a.m. Sunday.

Meanwhile, a eulogy by actor

James Mason and organ music, probably including "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," will highlight the last act of Judy Garland's stormy life story.

The body of Miss Garland, who died Sunday in London at the age of 47, will be returned to Manhattan today to be buried. Private Episcopal funeral services will be held for her Friday afternoon with Anglican Minister Rev. Peter Delaney of London presiding.

Mason will give the eulogy. The singer-actress's daughter, Liza Minelli, said she hoped to keep the arrival of her mother's body a secret so there will be no emotional demonstrations at the airport.

Enlargement Possible

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson and Soviet Charge d'Affaires Yuri N. Tcherniakov conferred Tuesday over possible enlargement of the 18-nation disarmament conference in Geneva. The countries agreed earlier on admitting Japan and Mongolia to the talks but have been unable to get together on who else to allow into the conference. The talks began in 1962 and are in recess until July 23.

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States gave South Vietnam 64 armed river patrol boats worth a total of $18.2 million today—the biggest turnover of military hardware to date in the process of de-Americanizing the war.

In ceremonies at Saigon's docks, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said he was confident of the ability of South Vietnamese troops in using the boats to patrol the Mekong Delta's waterways.

"It (the turnover) is all the more significant in view of the recent announcement that increased Vietnamese armed forces capabilities have made possible the replacement of 25,000 U.S. forces," Abrams said.

On the fighting front, B52 bombers dropped 180 tons of bombs onto North Vietnamese positions surrounding the Green Beret camp at Ben Het as the Communist siege entered its 50th day with no ground fighting reported.

The turnover ceremony at Saigon's docks saw the 800 U.S. crewmen of the river patrol boats haul down their American flags and leave the boats, or ships given the South Vietnamese in the past 12 months. Twenty more river patrol boats are en route from the United States.

Abrams and Gen. Cao Van Vien, his South Vietnamese counterpart, signed the transfer papers and in a short speech, Vien said his men would do their best "to do what is expected of them" in the delta.

Under President Nixon's withdrawal announcement, most of the U.S. ground troops in the Mekong Delta—two of the U.S. 9th Division's three brigades—are going home along with 1,200 Navy men who man boats there.

The turnover brought to 167 the number of American boats replaced by South Vietnamese troops with their own flag.

A U.S. spokesman said the 800 American crewmen were not part of the withdrawal of 25,000 GIs from Vietnam but rather would move into other jobs and be replaced when their tours are up.

The turnover brought to 167 the number of American boats replaced by South Vietnamese troops with their own flag.

Mother, 7 Children Slain

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI)—A mother and seven of her eight children were slain in their home here today. Police held the husband and father of the family on charges of murder.

The father, identified as Rafael Torres, was arrested by patrolmen who rushed to the scene after being called by relatives who said the family was being "butchered."

Authorities said the bodies of the victims, beaten and stabbed to death, were strewn all over the apartment at 347 Palisades Ave. The eighth child was reported in critical condition.

Torres, 42, telephoned his mother that he was going to murder his family, police said. A brother at the mother's house immediately called police and went to the Torres apartment located behind the Torres grocery.

The sight sent the brother running out of the apartment just as police arrived.

"The brother came running out hysterical and we grabbed him," said Ptl. William McCarthy. "We didn't know what was going on."

Within moments Torres barged out of the apartment into the hands of the two patrolmen who had drawn their guns.

Inside the modest wood-frame apartment were the bloodied bodies, some dressed in nightclothes, of Mrs. Marie Torres, 40; Epi, 19; Maria, 18; Carie, 17; Fay, 12; Annie, 10; Lillie, 7 and Victor, II.

Raymond, 14, was still alive and was rushed to Jersey City Medical Center in a police car.

The store and apartment are located in a tenement neighborhood of Jersey City.
